HOME COURT ADVANTAGE

Illinois boasts the best home court record in the nation over the last four years with a 51-2 mark, including a perfect 14-0 record at home last season.

When it's time to take the game on the court, Illinois has an outstanding home in Assembly Hall. The Hall has served as home to the Fighting Illini since its construction in 1963 and in 1999 it became even better after a multi-million dollar construction project that brought the team a new locker room, state-of-the-art training room, a dining area and a new tunnel area to accommodate network television trucks and team buses.

Illinois opened play at the Assembly Hall on March 4, 1963 with a 79-73 victory over Northwestern. Since that first game, the Illini have racked up a 424-118 (.782) mark. Since 1963, Illinois has sold out 138 games at the Assembly Hall, which seats 16,500. Illinois set an all-time attendance record on March 9, 1996 when 16,863 fans jammed into the Hall to witness Lou Henson's final regular season game as head coach. In the past four seasons, Illinois has

A SEA OF ORANGE APPEARS ON GAME DAY AT ASSEMBLY HALL.

HOME COURT ADVANTAGE

“The Assembly Hall can be an intimidating place. When you combine the Orange Krush, the Illini band and a very intense fan base, it makes for a great home court advantage. The success over the last four years with a 51-2 record backs it up.”

-Illinois Head Coach Bruce Weber produced a 51-2 record at home, including a current streak of 17 wins entering the 2003-04 season.

In addition to hosting the Fighting Illini, the Assembly Hall also holds performances for Broadway musicals, concerts and other shows. In the past few seasons, the WWE, Incubus, KISS, Matchbox 20, Cher and the Dixie Chicks were some of the performers that took the stage at Assembly Hall.

NATIONAL ATTENDANCE LEADERS

Each of the last 27 years, the Big Ten Conference has won the national attendance title for home games. In 2003, 2,254,658 total fans passed through the turnstiles for a 12,526 per game average. The Big Ten set the national record in 2000-01 as the League drew a record 2,342,022 fans, or 13,383 per game. The Big Ten saw six of its programs rank among the top 15 nationally, including ILLINOIS, which ranked 13th with an average of 15,165 fans per game.

Six times the Illini have played before a crowd of over 30,000 fans. On Dec. 6, 1997 the Illinois-Saint Louis game drew a crowd of 32,429 at the TWA Dome in St. Louis. It was the largest crowd to ever watch a basketball game in the state of Missouri and it ranks as the fifth-largest crowd to ever watch a Fighting Illini game.

THE FLYING ILLINI REUNION

The Flying Illini of 1989 returned to the UI campus on June 24, 2000 to play in a charity celebrity basketball game. Key members of the '89 team, including Kenny Battle, Nick Anderson, Kendall Gill and Steve Bardo, took on a celebrity team consisting of several former Illini basketball and football players. Proceeds from the game established a Flying Illini Basketball Scholarship.

Others from the '89 team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four who were attendance included P.J. Bowman, Travis Smith, E.J. Manzke, Tyler Cottingham, Mark Shapland, Pat Kennedy and Mike McDonald. The Flying Illini posted a 72-65 victory in front of thousands at the Assembly Hall with Gill leading in scoring with 16 points.

FIGHTING ILLINI IN THE PROS

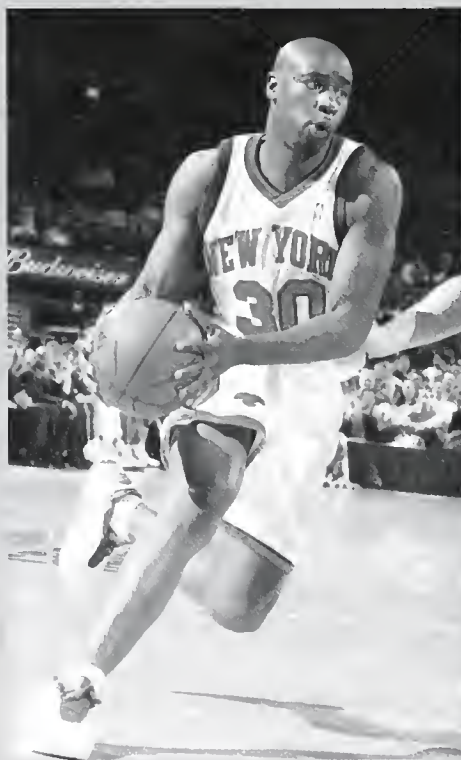

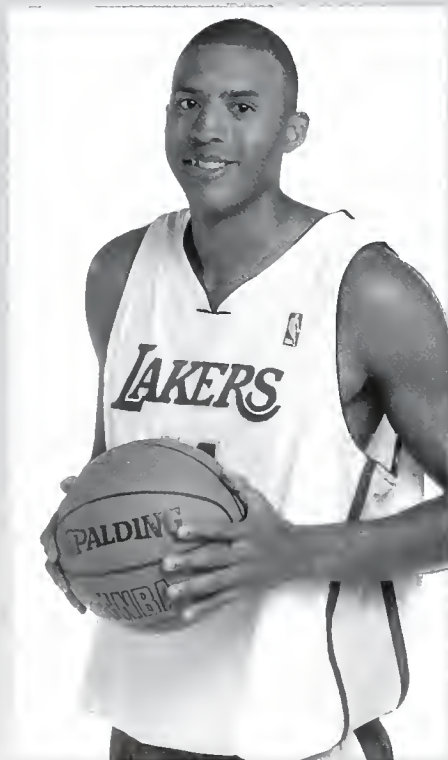

Illinois has made a name for itself in the professional ranks. Sixty-four players have been drafted and 36 Illini have seen playing time in the NBA. John Kerr, Wally Osterkorn, and Steve Kuberski all earned championship rings in the league. The list of Fighting Illini who are currently in the NBA includes one senior from 2003, Brian Cook, two seniors from 2002, Frank Williams and Robert Archibald, along with NBA veteran Kendall Gill.

This year Illinois senior Brian Cook became the 10th Illini Basketball player to be a first-round draft choice in the NBA draft. Cook, taken by the Los Angeles Lakers, was the 2003 Big Ten Player of the Year and a 2003 All-American. Included here is an all-time list of Illinois' NBA first-round draft picks.

THREE OF THE LAST SIX RESIDE IN CHAMPAIGN

Illinois has won 15 Big Ten Championships, including three shared titles in the last six seasons. Here is a list of the number of Big Ten Titles each school has won:

1. Purdue 21; 2. Indiana 20; 3. Ohio State 17; 4. Wisconsin 16; 5. Illinois 15; 6. Michigan 12; 7. Michigan State 10; 8. Minnesota 9; 9. Iowa 8; 10. Northwestern 2.

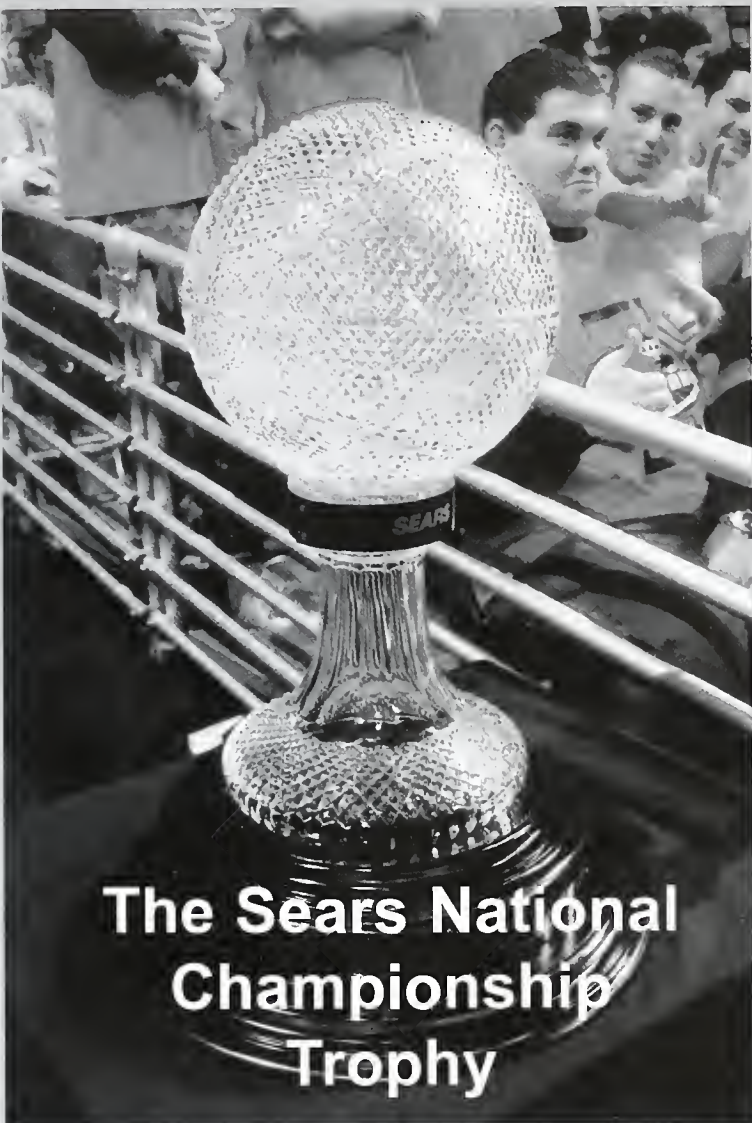

EUROPEAN ADVENTURE

One of the first things Coach Bruce Weber organized upon his arrival at Illinois was a 10-day foreign trip for his new team. In fact, the Illini basketball team, coaches and support staff visited Sweden, Finland and Estonia, winning all six scheduled games on the trip.

The tour was a great opportunity for the players to know and become comfortable with their new coach, as well as a great chance for the new coaches to view their team on and off the court.

The team defeated all six opponents on the trip, with two games in Stockholm, Sweden, two near Helsinki, Finland, and two in Tallinn, Estonia. While not playing games, the team had an outstanding opportunity to sample the culture of Scandinavia and visited several historical sites.

BIG TIME GAMES

SCHEDULING TOUGH OPPONENTS

As always, Illinois faces a challenging non-conference schedule, along with the always rigorous Big Ten grind. The Illini schedule was rated among the toughest in the nation each of the past few seasons. The level of competition will be just as tough this season, with at least 10 games scheduled against NCAA Tournament teams from a year ago. The nonconference slate features North Carolina, Memphis, Temple, Arkansas and Illinois-Chicago at the United Center in Chicago and the annual Braggin' Rights game against Missouri in St. Louis. The Fighting Illini will appear on national television at least 12 times this season. The Big Ten schedule includes at least two ESPN "Super Tuesday" matchups, as well as at least three national appearances on CBS. The Big Ten Tournament is scheduled for March 11-14 at the Conseco Fieldhouse in Indianapolis.

Over the last three seasons Illinois' schedule included match-ups with 35 NCAA Tournament teams, two eventual national champions and six Final Four teams, including six games against the two teams that played in the national championship games.

HOMES AWAY FROM HOME

Chicago, the Illini's home away from home, welcomed the team to the friendly confines of Wrigley Field in late May to celebrate yet another Big Ten Championship.

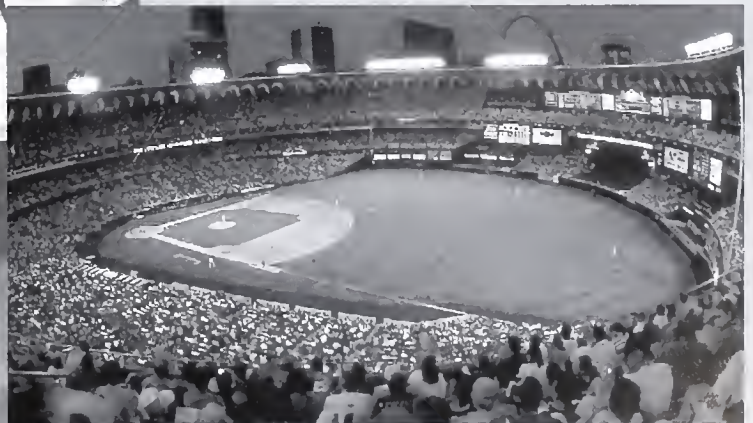

An early June Sunday afternoon at Wrigley Field with the Cubs facing the Houston Astros - what better day than that to celebrate Illini Day at Wrigley Field? When the Illini faithful arrived they found the field's famous marquee congratulating the Fighting Illini on another Big Ten Championship while inside Bruce Weber threw out the ceremonial first pitch. Not to be outshone, head football coach Ron Turner and several of the players from his team showed up in the seventh inning to lead the stadium in the singing of Take Me Out to the Ballgame.

St. Louis, where Illinois annually squares off with Missouri in the Braggin's Rights game, was equally welcoming, hosting the Illini Family in late May during a Cards/Cubs weekend.

The Cardinals family rolled out the red carpet for the Illini late May during a Cards/Cubs weekend. Both Coach Weber and football head coach Ron Turner threw out the first pitch as over 2,000 die-hard Illini celebrated Illinois Day at Busch Stadium.

ILLINI IN THE PRESEASON SPOTLIGHT

Each year the Illinois Basketball team is prominently featured in a number of preseason publications. Last year it was Brian Cook gracing the covers of preseason publications across the nation. This year it's sophomore guard Dee Brown adorning the cover of a number of preseason publications.

MR. BASKETBALL

The Fighting Illini have landed four of the state's last eight Mr. Basketball honorees. Sergio McClain, the 1997 winner, started the trend when he signed with the Illini and teammate Frank Williams, the 1998 winner, followed suit. Brian Cook, the 1999 honoree from Lincoln High School, followed Williams and Dee Brown became the fourth when the 2002 honoree enrolled at Illinois in the fall of 2002. When McClain, Williams and Cook suited up together for the first game of the 1999-2000 season Illinois became the first school to have three of the state's Mr. Basketballs on the roster at the same time.

RED RIBBON CAMPAIGN

The message from the Illini is to, "Put the Slam on Drugs!" Illini Head Coach Bruce Weber and the team are honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign, a national week-long effort promoting a drug-free community. In addition to speaking to local elementary and middle school students on the dangers of drugs, Illinois also welcomed several groups of students to their practices. The Fighting Illini are in their seventh year as honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign.

The Fighting Illini paid a goodwill visit to the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago while in the Windy City for the Big Ten Tournament last season.

HOMETOWN HEROES

The University of Illinois Hometown Heroes program offers student-athletes the opportunity to speak to young people regarding a variety of messages including goal setting, the importance of getting a good education, staying away from drugs and being a role model. Throughout the year student-athletes from all 19 Illinois' varsity sports have an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of the youth of Urbana-Champaign through the Hometown Heroes program.

TEAM USA

Each of the last four summers, University of Illinois basketball players have the opportunity to represent the United States on Team USA in international competition.

Over the last four seasons, four members of the Illinois basketball family, Cory Bradford, Dee Brown, Brian Cook and Deron Williams, competed for USA Basketball.

Illinois sophomore guards Dee Brown and Deron Williams started each game for the U.S. at the USA Basketball Junior World

Dee Brown and Deron Williams started for Team USA at the Junior World Championships in Greece this past summer, their second straight with Team USA.

Brown led the team in scoring with an average of 17.3 points and in steals with 19. Brown set a U.S. Junior World Championships team record with 47 points in an 87-84 win over Lithuania.

Prior to their freshman season, Brown and Williams helped the Junior World Championships squad to a 4-1 mark at the qualifying tournament in Isla de Margarita, Venezuela. Both players started all five games of the tournament with Brown averaging 8.2 points and leading the team with 15 assists. Williams was Cook was named a member of the 2001 USA Young Men's World Championship Qualifying Team that took home a silver medal in Brazil three summers ago, and helped the U.S. to a gold medal at the World Championships for Young Men in Japan in 2001. Frank Williams was a finalist for the team with Cook before having to withdraw because of injury. Williams and Cook were among only one other pair of collegiate teammates to make the finals.

Bradford played for the United States Select Team in 2000, a group comprised of the nation's top collegiate players who were brought together to help the United States Senior National Team tune up for the Sydney Olympics.

Bradford spent one week in Hawaii playing against the NBA's finest. He scored three points and collected three rebounds in 13 minutes of action against the Olympic "Dream Team."

Cory Bradford helped Jason Kidd and the rest of Team USA prepare for the Sydney 2000 Olympics.

Deron Williams led the U.S. World Junior Championship team in assists in 2003.

Dee Brown set a U.S. World Junior Championship record by scoring 47 points in an 87-84 win over Lithuania in 2003.

CHIEF ILLINIWEK

One of the most dramatic and dignified traditions in college athletics is the performance of Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois. Since 1926, this symbol has stirred pride and respect in audiences at Memorial Stadium, the Assembly Hall and Huff Hall.

Illiniwek (pronounced "ill-EYE-nih-wek") was the name of the loose confederation of Algonquin tribes that once lived in the region. The French changed the ending to "ois" in naming what became the state of Illinois. Illiniwek means "they are men" and former Illinois football coach Robert Zuppke is believed to have suggested calling the UI symbol Chief Illiniwek.

In 1926, Assistant Band Director Ray Dvorak conceived the idea of performing an American Indian dance during half-time of the Illinois vs. Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia. Lester Leutwiler, a student interested in Indian lore, was chosen for the role. Leutwiler's performance, done in a homemade costume, was received so well that he was asked to continue his dance through the 1928 season.

Webber Borchers, the second Chief Illiniwek, was the first to appear in authentic American Indian regalia. He initiated a campaign to raise money to replace his homemade outfit with an authentic one, but with the Depression on, he received just $15 dollars. However, a Champaign merchant stepped in to fund the rest and Borchers was off.

He recalled: "In the summer of 1930, I went, at my own expense, to the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota. I hitchhiked out, called an Indian agent and explained my mission. He and an Indian trader called in an older Sioux woman. She and two younger women made the suit."

On Nov. 8, 1930, in New York's Yankee Stadium, Illinois faced Army in the seventh game of the season. It was there that Borchers made the first appearance of Chief Illiniwek in that outfit. Since then, five different authentic outfits have been used by Chief Illiniwek. The one used in performances now was purchased in 1983 from Sioux Chief Frank Fools Crow, and is topped by a headdress of turkey feathers.

This year marks the 77th year of Chief Illiniwek.

ORANGE KRUSH

"The votes have all been gathered and counted, and we have tabbed the Orange Krush - the rabid group of orange-shirted Illinois students - for our Fans-of-the-Year award for 2000."

-Rob Meich, CBS Sportsline.com

Orange Krush is a student-run cheering section of dedicated Illini students who love basketball. Krush membership has risen dramatically to well over 700 screaming Illinois students sitting courtside, supporting Head Coach Bruce Weber and the Illinois men's basketball team. In 2002 the Quad-City Times was quoted as saying, "Mix in some kerosene called the Orange Krush student cheering section....and you have a pretty explosive situation."

Krush has an even greater impact off the court with the Orange Krush Foundation. Founded in 1998, the Orange Krush Foundation (formerly Team Krush Foundation) is a University of Illinois student-run Foundation intent on improving the quality of life for the youth and young adults of the Champaign-Urbana and campus community by providing financial support and contributing Habitat for Humanity, Journey and the Reading Group. In addition, the Orange Krush Foundation created the Matthew Heldman Memorial Scholarship Fund, which endows a basketball scholarship to honor the late point guard from Illinois' 1997-98 Big Ten Championship Team, who was tragically killed in an automobile accident shortly after his graduation.

During the 2003 season, the Orange Krush Foundation announced the formation of the Rod Cardinal community service to area not-for-profit organizations.

Since the inception of the Orange Krush Foundation four years ago, Krush members have raised over $600,000. The Orange Krush Foundation is almost entirely student-run and has donated funds to 24 worthy causes including Crisis Nursery, Sports Medicine Fund ($300,000) to benefit the Sports Medicine program at the UI.

Visit www.illinipride.com to view a list of all charities that have benefited from the Orange Krush Foundation and learn how each group has utilized their donation.

100 Years of Illinois Basketball

Next season will mark the 100th anniversary of basketball at the University of Illinois. Watch for special programs all season long in 2004-05, including a reunion weekend at Assembly Hall.

Alma Mater

The Alma Mater statue is one of the most recognized landmarks on the Illinois campus. It was given to the university in 1928 by Illinois graduate and sculptor Lorado Taft. The inscription at the base of the statue reads "To thy happy children of the future, those of the past send greetings." The statue was moved to its present location in front of Altgeld Hall in 1962 and it now serves as a welcome at the entrance of the Quad.

The Altgeld Bells

The 132-foot tall Altgeld Hall bell tower is another well known campus landmark. The tower houses 15 bells that weigh in at a combined 15,625 pounds. The bells, which were installed in 1920, chime on the hour and at fifteen minute intervals automatically while other selections, including the UI Alma Mater 'Hail to the Orange,' are played at special concerts that take place during the course of the year, Quad Day, Homecoming week, the Illini Union's anniversary and Commencement weekend.

The Flyin' Illini

The 1989 Illinois basketball season was a fitting end to the '80's 'Belong to the Illini' decade. The 1989 team, dubbed the Flyin' Illini, went 31-5, earned a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region and advanced to the Final Four. Illinois was the 14th winningest program in the nation in the 1980's, posting a record of 233-90 (.721). Illinois enjoyed nine 20-win seasons and finished in the top four of the Big Ten eight times.

Hail to the Orange

The Illinois Alma Mater and the centerpiece of the Marching Illini's "Three-In-One" halftime performance is one tradition almost every Illini fan knows. While Chief Illiniwek stands at attention on the 50-yard line or at center court, alumni, students and diehard Illini fans alike link arms across the stands while singing the Alma Mater.

Homecoming

Homecoming, a tradition on just about every college campus in the United States, all began at the University of Illinois.

The Homecoming celebration was conceived in 1909 by UI students C.F. (Dab) Williams and W. Elmer Ekblaw, members of the Shield and Trident senior society. Homecoming is now coordinated by the Chancellor's Committee to Support Homecoming and the Student Alumni Association. The weeklong celebration now includes campus decorations, a Homecoming 5K race, student service projects, "Lunch on the Quad," special "Comeback Guests," the traditional Friday night parade and pep rally on the UI campus and post-game social events.

Orange Krush

Orange Krush, one of the most recognizable student cheering sections in the nation, numbers over 700 screaming students courtside at all Illinois home games. In 1998, the group started the Orange Krush Foundation, and to date they have raised over $600,000. The Foundation supports one endowed scholarship, the Matthew Heldman Memorial Scholarship, for a men's basketball player, in honor of the late point guard from Illinois' 1997-98 Big Ten Championship Team, and the Rod Cardinal Sports Medicine Fund ($300,000) to benefit the Sports Medicine program at the UI, in honor of the long-time Illini basketball trainer.

Think Orange. Wear Orange.

Over the past three seasons, a sea of orange has appeared on Game Day at Assembly Hall as Illini fans dress in all orange. It all started on Feb. 6, 2001, when a sold-out crowd responded to 'Paint the Hall Orange' night by showing up in all orange and cheering Illinois to a 77-66 win over Michigan State at home en route to the 2001 Big Ten Championship.

The Whiz Kids

To this day the Whiz Kids remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. In 1942-43, Art Mathisen, Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ken Menke came together to capture the attention of the entire nation while winning back-to-back Big Ten titles and combining for a 35-6 record, 25-2 in the conference. The team was broke up on March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces.

THE IRWIN ACADEMIC CENTER

In the fall of 1997, the Irwin Academic Center opened on the campus of the University of Illinois. Conveniently located in the center of campus, it offers the very best in academic services to Illinois student-athletes. In addition to the academic offices, it houses study areas, an expansive computer room, and meeting rooms that over 600 student-athletes use throughout the year.

The Illini basketball coaching staff places academics at the top of the list when it comes to priorities and the results are overwhelming. In the past six years, 18 basketball players have earned their degree.

As part of the academic services department, the academic support staff members also coordinate programs that enhance the college experience and prepare each student-athlete for life after college. Some of the programs that are included are a workshop on alcoholism on college campuses, time management workshops and seminars on note taking skills and preparing for exams.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

There is no question that physical and mental dominance of an opponent is the goal of every major basketball program in the country and a sports specific strength and conditioning program plays a vital part of the success of any basketball team. Jimmy Price, the strength and conditioning coordinator for men's basketball, is committed to the physical and mental development of each and every Illini basketball player.

"The bottom line is that the team which dominates its opponent physically and mentally is going to win the game," Price said. "It is our personal mission to put each player in the best possible position to be successful on the basketball court."

The strength and conditioning program is designed to make each student-athlete a better basketball player. There are many different contributing factors to physical dominance in the sport of basketball, but the one consistent factor is the need for power production. Basketball athletes require a training program that has a main focus on the development of power. Incorporating the Olympic lifting techniques (clean, jerk, squats and variations of each) into training gives the student-athlete the ability to increase the power that a student-athlete can produce.

The Basketball Strength and Conditioning program philosophies are based on 10 key principles:

1. Ground Based Activities: Select lifting exercises and conditioning drills that apply force with the feet against the ground such as cleans, jerks and squats.
2. Multiple Joint Actions: Multiple joint actions improve your athletic performance by coordinating simultaneous muscle contractions and movements.
3. Three Dimensional Movements: Sport skills involve movements in three planes of space simultaneously: forward-backward, up-down, and from side-to-side. In strength training only free weights allow movements in three dimensions simultaneously.
4. Train Explosively: The amount of force required for a given activity is regulated by the use of two different types of motor units found in the body: fast twitch and slow twitch. These factors combined mean a fast twitch fiber can generate up to four times greater force than a slow twitch fiber, which is key to being explosive on the basketball court.

5. Progressive Overload: Application of the load has crucial impact on maximizing performance and keeping sport injuries to a minimum. Overload occurs and the future of the next training session. Many student-athletes take this area for granted, which is a critical mistake because it is vital to completely replenish used energy stores. If this does not happen, recovery for the next workout will be compromised.

"The use of these 10 principles is key in the process in developing explosive athletic basketball players," Price said. "It is crucial for basketball student-athletes to maximize their explosive potential on the court. We think this type of training will have the greatest effect not only on the vertical jump but also the other vital skills that it takes to become a superior basketball athlete."

Working closely with athletic trainer Al Martindale and the coaching staff is the most effective way to implement and monitor an effective workout regime that best suits the individual needs of the student-athlete. Price uses a hands-on method of coaching for teaching proper techniques and lifting methods.

when the body responds to training loads greater than normal. Intensity and volume are the key factors used to progressively increase the overload. The use of heavier loads increases the intensity, which increases the tensile strength of the muscle group being trained.

6. Application and Periodization: Use different combinations of volume and intensity to generate different body responses. Volume and intensity will be determined by the season of the sport.

7. Split Routine: The split routine allows good recovery and rebuilding as well as at least two full days of recovery from each exercise.

8. Speed Day/Strength Day: Each training day is designated by the type and velocity of the movements being performed.

9. Train the Correct Energy System: The primary objective of conditioning is to improve your energy capacity and, therefore, improve your performance. This means that if your sport requires explosive movements, then the training should be tailored around this principle.

10. Proper Sports Nutrition: This concept is of the utmost importance and is often most overlooked by student-athletes. Each and every variable in this area affects the outcome of the training day

"Toughness begins with practice and training. You cannot expect to be mentally tough in a game if you are not mentally tough during practice and training," Price said.

Basketball Training Program Goals:

- Maximize basketball athleticism by increasing the vertical jump.
- Increase lateral speed and explosion.
- Increase absolute strength.
- Increase explosive power through Olympic lifting.
- Increase sports specific agility.
- Increase level of anaerobic basketball conditioning and mental toughness.
- Strengthen joints and poorly developed muscle groups in order to prevent injuries.
- Enhance nutritional habits to optimize lean body mass to fat mass ratio.

"It is a long and rigorous season," Price concluded. "The team that is in the best shape mentally and physically will rise above the competition at the end of the season. All of our training and practices are focused around one goal: winning in March and April."

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

Basketball Strength Room

Fighting Illini basketball players have the opportunity improve their strength and conditioning at a state-of-the-art facility within the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility. Located just a few steps from the practice floor, the strength and conditioning room has the latest equipment to help UI players maximize their potential and prepare them for the long and demanding college basketball season.

The latest addition is the Vertimax, a machine that increases a player's vertical jump and overall body explosiveness. Players work out with a variety of free weights and other strength machines under the supervision of a full-time strength and conditioning coach.

"We feel that the strength and condition of our team is vital to competing at the highest level," Illinois head coach Bruce Weber said. "The Big Ten is a strong and physical conference and our players work very hard in the weight room to be prepared for each game. If you look over time in this League, the strongest, toughest and most explosive teams are usually the most successful."

JIMMY PRICE Strength & Conditioning Coach

Jimmy Price, CSCS, SPN begins his first year with the Illini as an assistant strength and conditioning coach and sports nutritionist under Jim Zielinski. Currently, Price serves as the basketball Strength and Conditioning Coordinator as well as the Sports Nutritionist for both basketball teams. Prior to joining the staff at Illinois, Price served as an Assistant Strength Coach and Sports Performance Nutritionist at Texas Tech University where he spent the last five years working with the football, men's and women's tennis, track and field, and, most recently, the men's basketball team under Coach Bob Knight. Price earned his bachelor's degree in exercise sports science with an emphasis in fitness, wellness and nutrition from Texas Tech University.

A native of Amarillo, Texas, Price served in the United States Marine Corp from 1996-2002, where he was a physical training and nutritional liaison for the Marines of his detachment. After graduation he worked for the Red Raiders in the areas of Strength and Conditioning and Sports Nutrition. Price currently holds certifications as a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist and Specialist in Performance Nutrition.

UBBEN BASKETBALL COMPLEX

In October 1998, Illinois moved into the state-of-the-art Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex on the campus of the University of Illinois. This $5.5 million dollar facility is a direct result of the university's commitment to excellence in athletics. It houses not only a full-sized practice court, but its features include locker rooms for the coaches and players, a players lounge, video review room, training room and weight room. The 40,000-square-foot facility is home to everything the players need to make it through the day. After classes, players can spend time studying or using the computers in the video room. The locker room has lockers for each player and is adjacent to the players' lounge and video room.

When it's time to get taped before practice, the players just walk across the hall to the fully equipped training room which is located next to the practice court. In the area of strength and conditioning, the players have use of the weight room which has free weights, Nautilus equipment, treadmills and Stairmaster. The team utilizes both the weight room at the football stadium and at the Ubben Complex.

Banners hang over the practice court for all of Illinois' Big Ten Championships.

The basketball players enjoy their own lockerroom and lounge in the Ubben Basketball facility.

The Ubben Basketball Complex gives the Illini a practice court all their own.

The college experience for a student-athlete is meant to encompass everything from the educational experience inside the classroom, to the experiences associated with athletics, to the extracurricular activities. It is important to finish college as a well-rounded individual with a variety of experiences and at the University of Illinois the list of opportunities both in and out of the educational realm is endless.

Scott Hall is one of the dorms that houses Fighting Illini freshmen.

Illinois offers first-rate residence halls with good food, as well as the nation's largest fraternity and sorority system, and independent housing options. Residence halls have 12 computer centers, accessible to residents 24 hours a day. Every University residence hall room has a computer outlet directly connected to the University's "backbone," enabling you to hook up your own computer to do your homework and class projects, and access e-mail and surf the Internet from your room. The Fighting Illini freshmen live in one of 22 residence halls on campus, while the upperclassmen share apartments off campus.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics fields 19 sports teams and student-athletes are very active in supporting all of the teams throughout the year. There is always an opportunity for a sporting event on campus, either on week nights or on weekends. Whether it is volleyball, football, soccer games in the fall, or going to watch the Fighting Illini women's basketball team or tennis team play, the men's basketball players have plenty of opportunity to enjoy watching their fellow student-athletes in action.

The Intramural-Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes on any campus, with four gymnasiums, 23 handball/racquetball courts, weight and exercise equipment, indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and more. The UI has one of the most comprehensive intramural sports programs in the nation.

In addition to hosting the men's and women's basketball teams in action, the Assembly Hall has hosted concerts, circuses, ice shows, and Broadway musicals. Beautifully restored Foellinger Auditorium on the Quad also is home to concerts, films and speakers. The Krannert Center for the Performing Arts holds four theaters for plays, dance, and concerts by famed individuals and groups, such as the Chicago Symphony.

The recently renovated CampusTown is filled with student apartments, shopping and restaurants.

There are approximately 850 registered student organizations at the University of Illinois to meet the individual needs and desires of each student. Quad Day, during the first week of school, offers a chance for students to sample the various activities available to them through the numerous organizations on campus.

If your interests include activities such as movies, bowling, or golf, the Champaign-Urbana area can accommodate you. There are several movie theaters, including a 16-screen theater about five minutes from campus. The U of I Orange and Blue Golf Course is open seven days a week and is also just minutes away from campus.

Additionally, the Champaign-Urbana community offers a large number and variety of restaurant choices. With a population of 110,000 the area houses plenty of shopping opportunities and other big-city amenities while still retaining a Midwestern college-town atmosphere.

Founded in 1969, the African American Cultural Program provides a support system for students by advising, counseling, and offering programs that have an appeal to the students as well as the entire community. Some of the program efforts include recognition of Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Mom's Day programming and the Black Congratulatory program. The African American Cultural Center is located on the University of Illinois campus and hosts activities on a regular basis. Student workshops revolving around the cultural arts are in place throughout the school year and some are offered for course credit.

THIS IS ILLINOIS

A WORLD-CLASS UNIVERSITY

Discover how the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign Earns Its Reputation as a World-Class Leader in Research, Teaching and Public Engagement.

Since its founding in 1867, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has earned a reputation of international stature. Its distinguished faculty, outstanding resources, breadth of academic programs and research disciplines, and large, diverse student body constitute an educational community ideally suited for scholarship and research.

The Quad is the center of activity on campus.

more than 150 fields of study. The divisions are the College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences; College of Applied Life Studies; College of Commerce and Business Administration; College of Communications; College of Education; College of Engineering; College of Fine and Applied Arts; College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; and Institute of Aviation.

Among the University's most significant resources is its talented and highly respected faculty. Many are recognized for exceptional scholarship with memberships in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, and the National Academy of Engineering; with the National Medal of Science and the Fields Medal in Mathematics; as National Science Foundation Young Investigators and as recipients of Presidential Early Career Awards for Scientists and Engineers; and by such organizations as the National Endowment for the Humanities, Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, National Academy of Education, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Academic resources on campus are among the finest in the world. The University Library is the largest public university collection in the world, housing 22 million items in the main library and in the more than 40 departmental libraries and units. The library's computerized cataloging system was the first in the world to serve as the primary access to a large academic library. More than one million users worldwide access the online catalog each week.

A world leader in supercomputing design and applications, the University is home to the National Center for Supercomputing Applications, developer of the hypermedia browser Mosaic™, which revolutionized the use of the World Wide Web. Students have access to thousands of computer terminals in classrooms, residence halls, and campus libraries for use in classroom instruction, study, and research.

Students and scholars find the University an ideal place to conduct inter- and multi-disciplinary research. The most visible example of the University's commitment to such study is the Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology, where eighteen research groups from sixteen University departments work within and across three broadly defined themes: biological intelligence, human-computer intelligent interaction, and molecular and electronic nanostructures.

The University has a fundamental commitment to undergraduate education. Nearly 28,000 undergraduate students are enrolled in nine undergraduate divisions, which together offer some 4,000 courses in Undergraduate admission is highly selective. In the 2001 freshman class, students in the middle 50% had ACT scores between 25 and 30 and ranked between the 83rd and 96th percentiles of their high school graduating classes.

The University enrolls over 9,000 graduate and professional students in more than 100 disciplines. It is among the top five universities in number of earned doctorates awarded annually in the United States.

Also integral to the University's mission is a commitment to public engagement.

Each year about 65,000 Illinois residents participate in scores of conferences, institutes, credit and noncredit courses, and workshops presented on campus and statewide. The University's Cooperative Extension Service comes into contact with nearly two million Illinois residents, providing 4-H, nutrition intervention, and other programs in rural and urban settings.

Research and class projects take students and professors outside their classrooms and laboratories to share expertise and technical support with Illinois farmers, manufacturing firms, and businesses. In a typical year, student volunteers log more than 60,000 volunteer hours in blood drives, day care centers, prisons, senior citizen centers, and tutoring programs.

Another prime indicator of the University's excellence is the success of its alumni: 11 alumni are Nobel laureates and another 18 have won Pulitzer Prizes.

A major center for the arts, the campus attracts dozens of nationally and internationally renowned artists each year to its widely acclaimed Krannert Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by alumnus Max Abramovitz, an architect of New York City's Lincoln Center, the facility has four indoor theaters and an outdoor amphitheater. Together, they host more than 350 performances each year. The University also supports two major museums: the Krannert Art Museum and Kinkead Pavilion, second only to the Art Institute of Chicago among Illinois public art museums; and the Spurlock Museum, a museum of world history and culture, scheduled to open in 2002.

Other major facilities include the multipurpose Assembly Hall (16,500 seats), which hosts concerts, convocations, theater, and sporting events; Memorial Stadium (70,000 seats), site of Big Ten Conference football games; and the Intramural-Physical Education Building, one of the largest recreational facilities of its kind on a university campus.

Located in east central Illinois in the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign (combined population 100,000), the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is the state's flagship public university.

Coach Weber Has Been A Part Of 21 Postseason Appearances And Nine Conference Championships During His 24-Year Coaching Career.

A new era of Illinois basketball begins in 2003 as Bruce Weber takes the reigns as the 16th Fighting Illini men's basketball coach. After taking the Southern Illinois Salukis to the top of the Missouri Valley Conference with championships each of the last two seasons, he hopes to continue the trend at Illinois where the Illini have won three Big Ten titles in the last six seasons.

Weber, 46, comes to Champaign-Urbana after compiling a 103-54 (.656) record in five seasons as the head coach at Southern Illinois University. He gained 18 years of experience in the Big Ten Conference as an assistant at Purdue under Gene Keady, helping the Boilermakers to six Big Ten championships and 17 postseason appearances.

Energetic and personable, Weber has appeared on numerous national radio and television programs on networks such as ESPN, Fox Sports and CNN. Fame and success have not changed Weber. He remains generous and humble. On road trips, no job is beneath him as he helps team managers load the bus or passes out drinks and sandwiches to his players and staff. Weber's warm personality figures to make him a popular figure in the state of Illinois as he is a frequent guest at civic clubs, booster club meetings, golf outings and many other speaking engagements.

HEAD COACH BRUCE WEBER

“People talk about dream jobs. For me, I had a dream of being a Big Ten head coach, and this is that opportunity - not only to be a Big Ten coach, but also to be in a program that I believe is one of the top 15 in the country, one that has a chance to win a national championship. That’s a mouthful, but I believe it can be done.”

In his five seasons at SIU, Weber took the Saluki program to the top of the Missouri Valley Conference, winning league titles in 2002 and 2003. He posted records of 28-8 and 24-7 in his last two seasons, leading the Salukis to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances including a run to the Sweet Sixteen in 2002 with wins over Texas Tech and Georgia at the United Center in Chicago. Weber’s 52 wins over the last two seasons ranks among the Top 5 in the nation. His .689 (62-28) winning percentage in MVC play ranks 12th in the long history of the league. Weber earned Missouri Valley Conference Coach-of-the-Year honors following the 2003 season. Entering the 2003 NCAA Tournament, only four Division I teams had won more games in the last two seasons than Southern Illinois (Pittsburgh, Duke, Oklahoma and Kansas).

The trademark of the Bruce Weber-led teams at SIU has been aggressive, fundamentally sound defense, holding opponents to 40 percent shooting from the field in 2002 and 2003. On the offensive end, the Salukis averaged 75.5 points in 2002 and 74.5 points last season. He leaves SIU with the Salukis holding a 27-game home-court winning streak.

At the age of 46, Weber has 24 years of coaching experience at the collegiate level with one season at Western Kentucky under Keady before moving with the long-

—Bruce Weber

Chris Lowery begins his first season as an assistant coach with the Fighting Illini after being named to the staff on May 7, 2003.

Lowery arrives at Illinois after serving as an assistant under Weber at Southern Illinois the past two seasons. He helped the Salukis to a 52-15 (.776) record and two trips to the NCAA Tournament, including a run to the Sweet Sixteen in 2002 and back-to-back Missouri Valley Conference championships.

The Evansville, Ind. native was a four-year letterwinner at Southern Illinois, helping lead the team to two straight NCAA Tournament appearances in 1993 and '94 after consecutive NIT berths in 1991 and '92. The three-year starting point guard was a second-team All-Missouri Valley selection in 1992. Lowery scored 1,225 career points and dished out 391 assists, ranking third in school history on the career assists chart. SIU went 86-37 (.699) during his four years.

Lowery began his coaching career as an assistant coach at Rend Lake Community College in Ina, Ill. for two seasons. He then coached at Missouri Southern State College for three years, helping the Lions to a 30-3 record and an NCAA Division II Final Four appearance in 2000.

Prior to his coaching tenure at Southern Illinois, Lowery spent one season as an assistant at Southeast Missouri State under Gary Garner.

“Chris worked very hard the past two years as an assistant at Southern Illinois,” Weber said. “He does a great job with recruiting and has a good relationship with the players. Chris has plenty of experience, having played four years at SIU and then working his way up in the coaching profession the past eight years. I’m thrilled to have Chris join the staff here at Illinois.”

Lowery, 30, graduated from Southern Illinois in 1996 with a bachelor’s degree in physical education. He and his wife, Erika have three children, Lexis, C.J. and Kahari.

—Bruce Weber

Wayne McClain begins his third year with the Fighting Illini coaching staff after a legendary prep career at Peoria Manual High School. He came to Illinois following an illustrious seven-year career as head coach at Manual where he led the Rams to three-straight AA state championships in his first three years as coach. USA Today named his 1997 squad, led by future Illini Sergio McClain, Marcus Griffin and Frank Williams, National High School Champions, and the senior McClain was named National High School Coach of the Year.

The Rams had records of 32-2, 31-2 and 31-1 in his first three seasons as head coach, winning state titles each season. McClain also earned Illinois Basketball Coaches Association Coach of the Year in 1995, '96 and '97. The Rams won Midstate Six Conference titles in each of his first five years as head coach, while Manual also advanced to the Sweet Sixteen of the AA state tournament in 1998 and 1999.

He began his high school career in 1977, serving as an assistant basketball coach to the legendary Dick Van Scyoc for 18 years until being named head coach in 1995. McClain helped the Rams to the first of four straight state titles in 1994. His teaching career includes teaching at the sixth grade level, teaching high school physical education and as the Manual High School Dean of Students.

Wayne's son, Sergio, was a player on all four Manual state championship squads prior to his career at Illinois, where he helped the Illini to two Big Ten titles. While at Manual, McClain coached four future Illini players including Jerry Hester, Marcus Griffin, his son, Sergio, and Frank Williams.

McClain earned a master's degree in physical education at Illinois State University in 1982 while teaching at Manual.

McClain and his wife, Robin, have two children. Sergio competed four years as a student-athlete on the UI men's basketball team in 2001 and graduated from Illinois, and daughter Brindeshie is a junior at the UI this fall.

"Jay is one of the most experienced coaches in the Big Ten and knows what it takes to be successful in our conference."

—Bruce Weber

Jay Price begins his first season at Illinois after he joined the Fighting Illini basketball staff on May 14, 2003.

Price comes to Illinois after spending the past 10 years as an assistant coach at Purdue under Gene Keady. In addition to his normal coaching and scouting duties, Price served as Purdue's recruiting coordinator and oversaw summer basketball camps, team travel and scheduling. During his time at Purdue the Boilermakers compiled a record of 220-105 (.677), winning three Big Ten championships and earning eight NCAA Tournament berths. Weber and Price worked together as assistants on the Purdue staff for five seasons, from 1994-98.

A native of Oklahoma City, Okla., Price was a basketball manager at Kansas for four years under former coaches Larry Brown and Roy Williams, serving as head manager for Williams as both a junior and senior. During his time at Kansas, the Jayhawks won the national championship in 1988 and finished as national runner-up in 1991.

Price is the vice president of the NABC assistant coaches committee.

Price, 34, received a bachelor's degree in journalism from Kansas in 1991. He and his wife, Beth have a 2-year old daughter, Katherine.

"I'm extremely excited to have Jay Price join our staff and look forward to working with him again," Weber said. "He's one of the most experienced coaches in the Big Ten and knows what it takes to be successful in our conference. Jay is a very hard worker who will prove to be quite an asset at Illinois as he has experience in every aspect of helping run a college program, including recruiting, scheduling, travel, summer camps, scouting and player development."

Price began his coaching career with a two-year stint as an assistant at Oklahoma under former coach Billy Tubbs before going to Purdue. During that time, he also served as manager for the U.S. Olympic men's basketball "Dream Team" while the squad practiced in the United States during the summer of 1992.

GARY NOTTINGHAM

Administrative Assistant

“Gary brings a ton of experience to the position since he was named a head coach at the age of 26. He has been a trusted friend since we were together at Western Kentucky.”

—Bruce Weber

University of Illinois men's basketball coach Bruce Weber hired Gary Nottingham as assistant to the head coach for the program on June 11, 2003.

Nottingham, who worked with Weber as a graduate assistant at Western Kentucky, was head coach at Glenville State College from 1983-1997 and at the University of South Carolina-Spartanburg from 1997-2002, compiling an overall record of 272-262. At the end of the 2002 season at Spartanburg, Nottingham ranked among the Top 50 in career wins among the 290 active NCAA Div. II basketball coaches.

Nottingham was just 26 years old when he earned his first head coaching position at Glenville in 1983. He was the 1993 West Virginia Conference Coach of the Year after leading Glenville to a 21-5 record and No. 18 ranking in NAIA, the school's best season since 1942. The Pioneers' finished second in the WVC that season with 17 league wins (a school record), the school's highest conference finish since '42. Nottingham led Glenville to second place at the 1995 WVC Tournament and to five semifinal appearances in his 14 seasons.

His best season at South Carolina-Spartanburg came in 1998 when he led the Rifles to a 22-7 mark, the NCAA Div. II Regional Semifinals and Top 20 national ranking. Spartanburg won the 1998 Peach Belt Championship.

“Gary brings a ton of experience to the position,” Weber said. “Since he was named a head coach at the age of 26, he had to deal with many things that I never did even as an assistant in the Big Ten. He has been a trusted friend since we were together at Western Kentucky, and a person I have always felt comfortable in talking to about basketball. If I needed an in-bounds play or advice about strategy, I could always call him and pick his brain about ideas. Gary gives our staff a different mixture than most, and is someone I can use as another consultant about any issue on a daily basis.”

SPORTS MEDICINE

When it comes to sports medicine, the University of Illinois has the finest in medical personnel to keep the Fighting Illini basketball players healthy and on the court. The sports medicine staff's No. 1 goal is the prevention of injuries, but in the unfortunate event of an injury the staff works diligently to get the athlete back into playing condition as quickly as possible.

The sports medicine team would not be complete without the team physicians, who tend to the medical needs of the student-athletes.

Dr. Jeff Kyrouac is the head team physician and Dr. Robert Gurtler is the team orthopedic surgeon.

The Sports Medicine Staff: Dr. Jeff Kyrouac, Al Martindale and Dr. Robert Gurtler.

Kyrouac is in his first season in this capacity for the UI basketball program, but has served the Fighting Illini football program since January 2001. He directs the drug-education and drug-testing programs, and provides consultations to the athletic training staff. He received his M.D. from Southern Illinois University, School of Medicine in 1980 and is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine. He serves as a clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Gurtler has been on the team's medical staff since 1983. He is responsible for treating orthopedic injuries to athletes in varsity sports. In addition to his duties with the U of I, Gurtler has a private practice at Carle Hospital, focusing primarily on sports-related injuries.

AL MARTINDALE Athletic Trainer/ Director of Sports Medicine

The basketball athletic training staff is headed by Director of Sports Medicine Al Martindale, who is in his 24th year as a head trainer at the Division I level, his 21st year at Illinois and first with the Illini basketball squad.

The native of Postville, Iowa, spent six years at the University of Hawaii, including three as head trainer, before accepting the Illinois position.

Martindale received his B.S. in physical education from Upper Iowa University in 1973. From UIU he went to Indiana State, where he earned a master's degree in 1974. His next stop was Moline (Ill.) High School, where he spent three years before taking the position at Hawaii.

In addition to working with the basketball team, Martindale's responsibilities include the prevention and treatment of injuries for athletes in all 19 of Illinois' varsity sports. He also supervises seven full-time assistants, two graduate assistants and more than two dozen student trainers.

Martindale and his wife, Lisa, have two children, Meghan and Marc, and live in Champaign.

ROD CARDINAL

Director of Basketball Operations

After 30 years as head trainer of the Fighting Illini men's basketball team, Rod Cardinal takes over the role as director of basketball operations. Cardinal handles many aspects of the basketball program, including coordinating all travel plans for the team. He joined the Illinois staff as assistant athletics trainer at the UI in July 1973 and retired from that position in the summer of 2003 as one of the most respected athletic trainers in the nation.

Cardinal holds the important job of travel manager for the Illini, which covers everything from booking charter service to hotel rooms to planning menus for meals on the road.

Prior to his appointment at Illinois, he served in a similar capacity as athletic trainer at the U.S. Military Academy.

A native of Blaine, Minn., Cardinal graduated from Southwest State University (Minn.) in 1971 with a B.S. in health and physical education. He was a student trainer in high school, and in college for three years prior to his West Point position. He also played varsity basketball in college.

Cardinal earned a master's degree in 1977 from Illinois in physical education and sports medicine with an additional emphasis in educational administration. He received the Alumni Achievement Award from Southwest State University in 1995 and has been honored as an Honorary Varsity "I" member at Illinois.

Mary and Rod Cardinal

Cardinal, along with his wife, Mary, have three grown children and reside in Tolono. Their youngest son, Brian, was an All-Big Ten selection at Purdue and has spent time with the NBA's Detroit Pistons and Washington Wizards.

Richmonds Endow Basketball Coach's Position

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has been close in many respects to Jack Richmond all his life.

The Champaign resident, U of I graduate, retired businessman, and longtime benefactor to his alma mater again strengthened his ties to the U of I. A lifelong Fighting Illini fan, Jack C. Richmond and his wife, Marge, significantly increased their previous seven-figure commitment to the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics by endowing the salary of the men's basketball head coach position with a gift of $2 million.

"The Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach" is the latest on a long list of generous support from the Richmond family. Jack, whose ancestors helped settle Champaign County, recalled his parents, Arthur Dean and Mildred Richmond, contributed to the U of I for the construction of Memorial Stadium. Seven-year-old Jack was on hand for the dedication of Memorial Stadium on Oct. 18, 1924, a day forever highlighted by Red Grange's five touchdowns during an Illinois romp over top-ranked Michigan. Jack was hooked on Fighting Illini sports.

But before Jack could attend his beloved University of Illinois, he learned a few lessons in life. The Richmonds were devastated by the Great Depression, losing their significant holdings of farmland and other assets. The dramatic change in lifestyle had a profound effect on Jack.

It also made him further appreciate the University of Illinois.

His years at the U of I were greatly satisfying. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity and was active in sports. As a freshman gymnast who earned his numerals with the U of I team, Jack said he broke his sternum following a dismount from the flying rings. No longer able to compete as a gymnast, he focused his attention on weight training. At that point, weights weren't popular and were nonexistent at the U of I.

"I always thought that weight training, if done properly, would help athletes. Nobody believed me," he said.

Still, he convinced Seward Staley, director of the U of I School of Physical Education, to purchase a set of Olympic weights. A small but dedicated weight lifting team was formed, and the sport spread to first to the intramural level and then was adopted by the physical education department as a P.E. course.

Today, the benefits of weight training are widely recognized and top-notch equipment is readily available across campus. Jack smiles and says, "I feel like I was 60 years ahead of my time."

And those muscles paid off for Jack, who was a railroad worker, wrecking crew member, meat truck driver, corn detassler, life-guard, bouncer and even a model for the U of I art school to pay for his education. He graduated in 1943 with a bachelor's degree in agriculture.

He followed up his four years of ROTC at the U of I with a tour in the Army. Then he put his degree to work when he joined the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service as a county farm planner, opening district offices in Macon County and Clark County.

Later, Jack was recruited by a former member of the U of I gymnastics team as a salesman for Marchant Calculators. His capacity to sell was exceptional, and he soon had clients from area grain elevator operators to the U of I. He remained with Marchant, which was acquired by Smith Corona and became known as SCM Corp., until 1972. Then he was ready to embark on a new course—the stock market.

He had dabbled in the market since 1955, but by the early 1970s he had the time and resources to become more active in the stock market. He enjoyed success in this realm as well, and was more than willing to share. A donor since 1965, his generosity to the U of I increased significantly over the years. Jack and his mother became members of the Presidents Council in 1976 and Marge became a member in 1990. The Richmonds are lifetime members of the Alumni Association as well.

Thanks to $2 million from the estate of Mildred and from Jack and Marjorie Laird Richmond, the U of I constructed the Richmond Journalism Teaching Studio, adjacent to and affiliated with Campbell Hall for Public Telecommunication, the new WILL broadcasting facility at UIUC. The Richmond Studio honors Jack, Marge, and the memory of Arthur Dean and Mildred Hummel Richmond.

Always interested in athletics at the U of I, Jack and Mildred Richmond had made a $1 million commitment to the Athletic Department in 1981. He became an honorary member of the I Man's Association and has been a member and former president of the Illini Quarterback Club since 1955. He also joined the Rebounders Club shortly after former head coach Lou Henson founded it. Jack is also a life member of the I FUND.

Now the Richmond name will also be forever associated with athletics at the U of I through the endowment of the men's basketball head coach position.

He said he hopes his gift ensures success for the Fighting Illini basketball program for future generations through the Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach.

For lifelong Illini fan and generous supporter Jack Richmond, it just doesn't get any better.

MEET THE ILLINI

2003-04 OUTLOOK

2003-04 Outlook

A new era of Illini basketball gets underway in 2003-04 as Bruce Weber takes over a program coming off three Big Ten championships and a Big Ten Tournament title in the last six seasons.

Weber inherits a squad that ran off 25 wins a year ago with just one senior in the starting lineup. Of course, that one senior was Big Ten Player of the Year Brian Cook, who led the league in scoring at 20.0 points per game. A heralded freshman class is now one year older and more experienced after guards Dee Brown and Deron Williams, and forward James Augustine combined for 95 starts during the season. The new coach got an early look at his squad during a 10-day tour of Scandinavia, where the returning players won all six games.

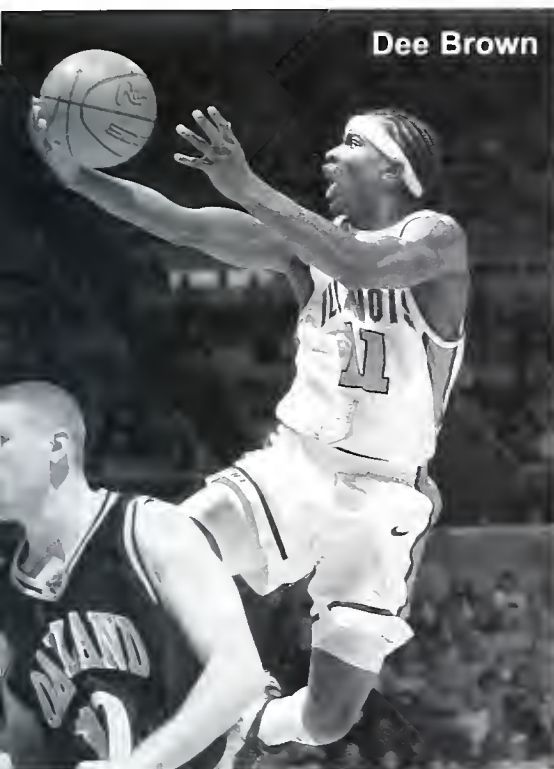

"We're very talented physically," Weber said. "Even a person who doesn't know much about basketball can see Dee's quickness, Roger and Luther's jumping ability, and the quantity of big bodies on this team. The thing we'll have to work on most is leadership and maturity on the floor with all the young guys. We have lots of guys who have played minutes, but their roles are different now than when they had Sean Harrington and Brian Cook to look to last season. Who's going to be the leader? Who's going to make the big shot? Who's going to be the defensive stopper? These are things I hope will work themselves out early in the season."

Brown and Williams figure to be one of the top backcourt tandems in the nation after finishing first and third, respectively, in assists in the Big Ten, and ranking first and second in assist-to-turnover ratio.

Brown earned raves around the league on his way to second-team All-Big Ten honors. There is no wonder in where he earned the nickname of "one-man fast break." Brown was second on the team in scoring at 12.0 points per game, while leading the team in assists (4.97 avg.) and steals (1.78). He also ranked third on the team in rebounding with an average of 3.7 boards per game. His 2.56 assist-to-turnover ratio led the league. Brown is a preseason All-American by Playboy Magazine.

Although Williams didn't score at the same rate as Brown, his contribution to the team was equal. Williams quickly earned the reputation as the team's top defensive player, and fin-

Dee Brown

Head shot 52 percent from the field and averaged 7.9 points per game to rank fourth on the squad in scoring.

"A healthy Luther Head gives another athletic guard, but I want him to be known for more than lob dunks. He needs to work on his pull-up jumpers and coming off screens looking for his shot. He's got a great mid-range game and I think the lack of practice last year with his injury did not allow his game to advance."

Junior Roger Powell is the fourth returning starter from a year ago. An athletic 6-6 guard/forward, Powell was exceptional down the stretch as he averaged 13.3 points over the final 11 games prior to the NCAA Tournament. In conference games only, he led the league in field-goal shooting at 64.1 percent, and finished second in all games at 59.1 percent. He was third on the team in scoring at 8.7 points and earned a spot on the Big Ten All-Tournament team.

"Roger is a miss-match at the three position because he can go inside, he can rebound well and he's good in transition," Weber said. "You have a little different player in each one ... an explosive jumper ... your quick zipper ... your solid, big-body guard, then Roger, who size-wise, is a matchup problem for most teams."

Guard Jerrance Howard returns as the only senior on the squad. He originally indicated last season that he would not return for his final season of eligibility, but changed his mind during the summer. Howard saw action in 14 games last season and gives the Illini added leadership from an upperclassman.

"Jerrance has been through it before," Weber said. "He wants to go into coaching, so hopefully, he can give us some of the leadership we need."

Weber is looking at five players plus possibly Powell to provide strong inside play.

Roger Powell

Augustine started all but three games and finished his first season averaging 7.0 points and 5.8 rebounds per game, while shooting 58 percent from the field. He showed great athleticism during the season and was a finalist for the US Junior National Team along with Brown and Williams before withdrawing to concentrate on summer school and getting stronger for his sophomore season.

Augustine joined Brown on the first-ever Big Ten All-Freshman team.

"James had a great freshman year," Weber said. "He can run and he jumps well. He just seems to be one of those kids who plays hard all the time. I want James to advance his game, develop his post moves and feel ished third in the Big Ten in assists (4.53 avg.) and second in assist-to-turnover ratio (2.46). He finished the year averaging 6.3 points per game, but showed great flashes of improved shooting while playing for the USA Junior World Championships team over the summer.

"Each one of our guards is a little different," Weber said. "Dee has the jets. He just explodes with the basketball. He's so good in transition and after this summer, feels more and more confident about his offensive game and scoring. Deron is a good all-around player. He passes very well. He's a great defender who has a big body and can guard a lot of positions. He's got to gain more confidence in his shooting ability."

Junior guard Luther Head hopes to rebound from an injury-plagued season in 2003. He missed seven games and played with pain for much of the year with a groin injury. Off-season surgery is expected to have Head back at 100 percent entering the 2003-04 season, which gives Illinois and Weber one of the top athletes in the Big Ten. One of the best leapers in the nation, better about his jump shot."

Junior Nick Smith was solid during Big Ten play for the Illini, averaging 5.9 points and 2.9 rebounds, while shooting 67 percent from the field and 91 percent from the free throw line. He led the Illini in blocked shots with 38 and enters his junior season with high expectations.

"Nick is a tall, lanky player with great skills," Weber said. "He can shoot very well, pass well and he has a good feel for the game. We want him to be more physical and rebound more."

Aaron Spears ended up playing just six games before suffering a knee injury that sidelined him the remainder of the year. He returns and adds much-needed bulk to the Illini interior game. He made eight of 12 shots before being injured. Spears would definitely have been a factor for Illinois during Big Ten play if he had not been injured.

"Aaron was the biggest surprise on our trip to Europe," Weber said. "This fall is huge for him. He understands what we expect from him and I think he has a lot more confidence in himself."

Another newcomer to the floor is 6-10 junior Jack Ingram, who is eligible after transferring to Illinois from Tulsa in 2002. Ingram has shown great shooting ability and gives the Illini an additional physical presence in the middle.

"Jack was someone I didn't know much about when we came, but he gives you a good body and he can also go out and shoot the ball," Weber said. "He showed a great nose for the ball on the offensive boards during the trip to Europe."

Weber will also be counting on the three freshmen joining the squad.

Richard McBride, a 6-3 shooting guard, was a three-time all-state selection and has shown to be an outstanding shooter. Extremely strong and powerful, McBride is expected to compete for playing time immediately.

Brian Randle is a slender 6-8 wing forward who is very athletic and has shown the ability to shoot the three-pointer. He also was a three-time all-stater in Illinois and adds to the depth on the perimeter.

"Richard gives you another shooter, while Brian gives you another athlete," Weber said. "One of these guys has to come through and be the fifth guy on the perimeter."

Warren Carter was the Class 5A Player of the Year in Texas and could be the sleeper in the class. Very athletic at 6-9, Carter will battle for playing time along the Illini front line.

"Warren gives you another athlete," Weber said. "He's long and lanky and a player who can run the court well, similar to Augustine. He can be in the mix, along with Roger, who can play the four. We have variety and should have good competition, for minutes and in practice."

Illinois again played one of the nation's toughest schedules last season and has several traditional powers on the 2003-04 slate as well. The Illini take on Providence, North Carolina, Arkansas, Memphis, Illinois-Chicago, Temple and Missouri during the non-conference portion of the schedule before moving into the always-tough Big Ten.

Luther Head

"We have a challenging schedule this year which RPI-wise should be very high," Weber said. "We play some of the premier programs in the nation in non-conference play which hopefully will make us ready for Big Ten play. It's also going to give us some neutral-courts against quality opponents that will hopefully get us ready for the NCAA Tournament."

2002-03 IN REVIEW

THE 2002-03 SEASON IN REVIEW

The Bill Self Era of Illinois Basketball was completed following the 2003 season. With three freshmen, one sophomore and just one senior in the starting lineup for the entire season, Self led his young squad to 25 wins, the school's first Big Ten Tournament Championship and a victory in the NCAA Tournament. The 78 victories during Self's three years at Illinois are the most wins in a three-year period in school history.

For the second time in three seasons, Illinois featured the Big Ten Player of the Year. Senior Brian Cook earned the award in 2003 after leading the league in scoring at 20 points per game and finishing third in the league in rebounding. Two Illini freshmen, Dee Brown and James Augustine, earned Big Ten All-Freshman Team honors, while classmate Deron Williams joined Brown on a 20-man national all-freshman squad. Sophomore Roger Powell was named to the All-Big Ten Tournament squad after an outstanding run to the title.

After beginning the season ranked No. 25 in the USA Today/ESPN Coaches Poll, the Illini completed non-conference play with a 10-1 record, including impressive wins over 12th-ranked North Carolina (92-65) and No. 11 Missouri (85-70).

The Illini began Big Ten play on the road at dangerous Minnesota and used 25 points by Cook and 22 from fellow senior Sean Harrington in posting a 76-70 win.

Michigan entered the Jan. 29 game at Champaign undefeated and in first place in the league. The Wolverines jumped out to a 47-39 lead with 9:07 remaining. At that point, Brian Cook loaded the Illini on his shoulders and provided one of the most-inspiring performances in Illini history. He scored 26 of his 30 points in the second half, and 19 in the final nine minutes to carry the Illini to a 67-60 win.

In one of the most-impressive home victories in some time, Illinois defeated Michigan State, 70-40, in February, holding the Spartans scoreless for a 10-minute stretch in the second half.

A four-game winning streak that started with the win over MSU took the Illini into a conference-title showdown at Wisconsin on March 5 with the winner taking the Big Ten title. In a tightly played game, the Badgers pulled out a 60-59 win on a free throw with four-tenths of a second remaining in the game.

Illinois began the Big Ten Tournament as the No. 2 seed and swept past Northwestern, Indiana and Ohio State to claim its first title in the six-year history of the tournament.

Illinois entered the NCAA Tournament as a No. 4 seed and defeated Western Kentucky in the first round. A rough 68-60 loss to Notre Dame ended the season for the surprising Illini.

Illinois' 25 victories for the season were the fifth-most in school history. Brian Cook and Dee Brown earned All-Big Ten honors for the season, with Cook a unanimous choice for the first team and Brown to the second team.

Seniors Cook and Harrington played in 100 victories during their four-year career, the most victories over a four-year period in school history. Illinois also compiled a 51-2 record over the past four years, the best home mark in the nation over that period.

2002-03 GAME RECAPS

GAME #1

Illinois 90 Lehigh 56

Nov. 24, 2002
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Sophomore Roger Powell had 15 points and nine rebounds to lead five underclassmen in double figures for Illinois in a 90-56 win over Lehigh.

Illinois (1-0) started three freshman and two sophomores in its first regular season game because of injuries and suspensions to two of its players, and the inexperience showed early on.

But after a few rocky minutes, the Illini's youngsters eventually settled down and easily pulled away from Lehigh (1-1).

Illinois trailed 15-12 before going on an 18-3 run that was capped by a crowd-pleasing dunk by freshman Aaron Spears. The 6-9 center caught a pass four feet from the basket, spun around a defender and slammed the ball with one hand for his first career points at Illinois.

Illinois shot 56 percent for the game, including 46 percent from 3-point range, and held Lehigh to 37 percent shooting.

Cook and reserve guard Jerrance Howard sat out while serving two-game suspensions for playing in a non-sanctioned summer tournament. Wilson scored 14 points and made 3-of-5 3-pointers. Illinois guards Dee Brown and Deron Williams, both freshmen, combined for 26 points and had four assists apiece.

Illinois 96 Arkansas-Pine Bluff 43

Nov. 27, 2002
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Roger Powell scored 17 points and had seven rebounds to lead Illinois to a 96-43 rout of Arkansas-Pine Bluff. Powell, who led four Illini in double figures, had 12 points in the second half and has paced the Illini (2-0) in scoring in both of their games.

Freshmen Dee Brown added 14 points and four rebounds, James Augustine had 12 points, nine rebounds and four assists and Kyle Wilson scored 11 for Illinois.

Illinois, which led 40-19 at the half, went on 16-3 and 16-4 runs after the break, effectively running its offense and stifling any chance for the Golden Lions. Illinois dominated the boards by a 50-20 margin, pulling down 24 offensive rebounds.

The Illini pushed a slim 10-7 lead nearly halfway through the first half to 31-13 with five minutes to go, behind two 3-pointers by Sean Harrington, who finished with nine points, and consecutive Aaron Spears layups. Spears finished with eight points.

The Illini's Brian Cook, the team's leading returning scorer and rebounder, and Jerrance Howard sat out the final game of a two-game suspensions for playing in a non-sanctioned summer tournament.

GAME #3

Illinois 85 Western Illinois 56

Dec. 1, 2002
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Brian Cook returned from a two-game suspension and scored 17 points Sunday in leading Illinois to a 85-56 win over Western Illinois.

Cook and guard Jerrance Howard missed the first two regular-season games for inadvertently participating in a non-sanctioned tournament this past summer, an NCAA violation. Howard was scoreless in his return. Roger Powell added 15 points and seven rebounds and Luther Head scored 11 in his first appearance of the season after battling a groin injury. Deron Williams chipped in 10 for the Illini (3-0).

Illinois led 42-24 at halftime as Cook scored 13 first-half points.

Western's Andre Charles scored six points during a 13-4 run in the second half that cut the Illini lead to 54-46 with just over nine minutes remaining.

The Leathernecks (2-3) got no closer however, as Dee Brown's seal and layup gave Illinois a 10-point lead and the Illini pulled away from there. Sean Harrington hit two 3-pointers that extended the Illinois advantage to 16 and James Augustine scored with 2:30 left to give them a 24-point cushion.

Illinois' bench combined to scored 32 points in making 14 of 15 field-goal attempts. Brown handed out 10 assists for the Illini.

GAME #4

#25 Illinois 92 #12 North Carolina 65

Dec. 3, 2002
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The ACC/Big Ten Challenge provided No. 12 North Carolina with its first real road test of the season. It was one they didn't pass as No. 25 Illinois ran away in the final eight minutes and routed the No. 12 Tar Heels 92-65.

A tight seven-point game (64-57) turned lopsided when Illinois finished on a 28-8 run over the final 7:42, sending Carolina to its first loss of the season.

In a game billed as a matchup of talented freshmen - North Carolina started three and Illinois two - Illini seniors Brian Cook and Sean Harrington made the difference.

Cook scored 22 points, grabbed eight rebounds and had five assists, while Harrington had a career-high 20 points, making 6-of-8 3-pointers, and came up with five steals.

Freshman Sean May led North Carolina with 21 points, Jawad Williams had 15 and freshman Rashad McCants added 13.

Illinois got a splendid game from first-year point guard Dee Brown, who scored 12 points and played stellar defense against North Carolina's Raymond Felton.

Illinois' defense forced 19 turnovers and held Carolina to 36 percent second-half shooting.

GAME #5

#25 Illinois 62 Arkansas 58

Dec. 7, 2002
AllTel Arena, North Little Rock, Ark.

No. 25 Illinois converted a sea of Arkansas mistakes into important points and defeated the undersized Razorbacks 62-58 in Little Rock.

Point guard Eric Ferguson's turnover with 2.9 seconds remaining, his ninth of the game, killed Arkansas' last chance to tie or take the lead. It was the 22nd turnover of the game for the Razorbacks.

Brian Cook hit the first free throw of a 1-and-1 situation with 8.4 seconds remaining, giving Illinois a 60-58 lead. When Cook, an 87-percent free throw shooter, missed his second, Arkansas freshman Jonathan Modica passed the rebound out to Ferguson.

Ferguson turned up court, took two dribbles and attempted a half-court pass to Dionisio Gomez. The ball sailed out of bounds and Illinois' freshman point guard Dee Brown sank two free throws with 1.9 seconds left to seal the game.

When the Razorbacks had four chances to take a lead in the final minutes, they had no one with Cook's experience to step forward.

Arkansas burned its final time-out with 15:34 remaining and was unable to set up a play in the final 2:25 when it had three chances to take the lead while trailing 59-58.

Illinois led 28-24 at the half and opened the second half with a 10-0 run as Augustine and Brown had four points apiece.

Dec. 10, 2002
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Freshman Dee Brown scored 25 points - including 12 of 19 as Illinois took control early in the second half - and Brian Cook added 21 as the 15th-ranked Illini beat Eastern Illinois 80-68.

The Illini (6-0) led by four points early in the second half, when they took advantage of six turnovers by Eastern Illinois (3-5) to extend their lead to 15. Brown had two 3-pointers during the surge, and was 5-of-8 from beyond the arc and 10-of-14 overall.

Henry Domercant, the nation's eighth-leading scorer at 25 points per game, had 30 for the Panthers. Domercant scored 14 points in the first 20 minutes, but went scoreless during a 10-minute stretch that included eight straight misses from the field.

Illinois led 38-32 at halftime behind Cook's 14 points and Roger Powell's 12. Powell finished with 16.

Luther Head replaced Deron Williams in the starting lineup for Illinois. Williams sprained his ankle in practice Sunday, and was limited to just 15 minutes after averaging 26 in the first five games.

2002-03 GAME RECAPS

GAME #7

#15 Illinois 70 Temple 54

Dec. 14, 2002
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Brian Cook had 25 points and 11 rebounds as No. 15 Illinois held a road-weary Temple to its worst shooting game of the season in a 70-54 win.

Illinois led 50-43 when Deron Williams and Sean Harrington made back-to-back 3-pointers to key a 20-9 run.

Temple played its second straight game without coach John Chaney, who was at home while he recovers from pneumonia. Temple's trademark zone defense frustrated the Illini's shooters all game. Illinois shot a season-low 43 percent from the field. The Owls, playing in a school-record sixth straight road game, shot just 29 percent and made 6-of-28 3-point attempts.

David Hawkins led Temple with 22 points, and senior Alex Wesby added 15.

Illinois built a 14-point lead in the first half behind near-perfect shooting from the free-throw line and poor outside shooting by Temple. The Illini made 13 of 14 free throws before the break.

After making just one field goal in the first four minutes, Illinois went on a 19-3 run and later took a 28-14 lead when Harrington fired a long pass to freshman James Augustine for a dunk and the Illini's biggest edge of the half. Hawkins and Wesby combined to score 11 points during a 13-2 run for the Owls to get them within three at halftime.

Illinois opened up the second half with two straight baskets, the second coming on a steal and layup by Williams. Williams, one of three freshmen who started for Illinois, finished with eight points and seven assists.

GAME #8

#12 Illinois 85 #11 Missouri 70

Dec. 21, 2002
Savvis Center, St. Louis, Mo.

Youth was served at the annual Braggin' Rights game.

Dee Brown had 21 points, seven assists and five rebounds to lead a lineup that included three freshmen as No. 12 Illinois, often dominating play, beat No. 11 Missouri 85-70 in St. Louis.

Illinois has won the last three games in the neutral-site series, which again played to a sellout crowd of 22,153 at Savvis Center. It was the first time both teams were unbeaten since 1989.

Brown and Ricky Clemons played to a virtual standstill in a battle of point guards. Clemons had 16 points and three assists and hit four 3-pointers, while Brown made quick recovery from a shoulder injury early in the second half, missing only about 2 1/2 minutes.

But Illinois excelled inside against an experienced Missouri front line, outrebounding the Tigers 42-32. Brian Cook barely missed his second straight double-double with 17 points, hitting all 10 free throws, and nine rebounds. Five others contributed four or more rebounds apiece.

Illinois led 39-32 at halftime, and stretched the lead to 59-41 with a 9-0 run early in the second half.

Missouri closed to 11 points with seven straight points, but couldn't get any closer than nine the rest of the way.

GAME #9

#7 Illinois 74 Memphis 77

Dec. 28 2002
The Pyramid, Memphis, Tenn.

Seventh-ranked Illinois got an unpleasant surprise in the second half.

"We lost the game in the first five minutes of the second half," Illinois coach Bill Self said after the Fighting Illini fell 77-74 to Memphis.

After going to the dressing room trailing 37-31, Memphis returned to hit three straight 3-pointers and go up 40-37. At the mid-point, Memphis led by eight points, 58-50.

Illinois (8-1) had a chance to tie it, but Dee Brown's 3-point attempt fell short with 2 seconds left. Brown, the team's freshman standout, had 19 points for the game.

Chris Massie, in his first game of the season, scored 13 points and had 10 of his 12 rebounds for Memphis in the second period. He was academically ineligible for the first seven games.

Though Illinois failed to regain the lead after the first half, Brian Cook tied it at 71 with a 3-pointer from the top of the key with 1:35 left to play.

But then Memphis came back with five unanswered points.

Cook led all players with 21 points. He hit all eight of his free throws and led Illinois with nine rebounds.

GAME #10

#11 Illinois 63 Coppin State 37

Dec. 30, 2002
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

With injuries up and down his lineup, Illinois coach Bill Self didn't mind the slow tempo for once. With starting forward Roger Powell sidelined with a strained toe, guard Luther Head missing his third game of the season with a pelvic injury and backup center Aaron Spears out due to a torn meniscus, No. 11 Illinois still had enough to overwhelm Coppin State 63-37 Monday night.

Brian Cook, the Big Ten's leading scorer, matched his season average with 20 points, and Sean Harrington added 18 points, all on threes, as Illinois held an opponent to its lowest scoring output since Northwestern had 30 Feb. 19, 2000.

Larry Tucker led the Eagles with 15 points while Deke Thompson added eight points and seven boards.

The Illini shot 56 percent from 3-point range, draining 10-of-18 from behind the arc, including one by 7-foot-2 center Nick Smith. Harrington's six treys tied his career high.

Coppin State frustrated Illinois early and went on a 7-0 run in the second half that closed the deficit to six points at 38-32. A basket and free throw from Cook, a 3-pointer from Dee Brown and two free throws from Blandon Ferguson pushed the lead to 14 with under 10 minutes to go. The Illini finished the game outscoring the Eagles 25-5.

Coppin State did not score a field goal the final 12 minutes of the game and finished the contest with just 12 baskets, the fewest field goals by an opponent in Assembly Hall history.

#10 Illinois 76 Minnesota 70

Jan. 7, 2003
Williams Arena, Minneapolis, Minn.

Brian Cook tied his career high with 25 points and Sean Harrington scored a career-high 22 for No. 10 Illinois, which began its quest for a third straight Big Ten title with a 76-70 victory over Minnesota.

Harrington had six 3-pointers, four in the second half, for the young Fighting Illini (11-1) in front of a boisterous crowd at Williams Arena in the conference opener for both teams. Illinois has now beaten the Golden Gophers nine straight times.

Michael Bauer had 17 points and Rick Rickert had 12 points on 5-for-19 shooting for Minnesota (8-4). The Gophers were held to 31 percent shooting (18-for-59) by the Big Ten's best defensive team.

Harrington, the conference's leading 3-point shooter, made three shots from beyond the arc in a 59-second span to put the Illini up 51-46 with 11:16 to go. His biggest three, though, came with 2:20 left. It gave Illinois a 70-67 lead after Moe Hargrow's free throws had tied it seconds earlier.

Trailing 72-68, Kevin Burleson missed a 3-pointer with 46 seconds left that Cook grabbed for the rebound and made two foul shots on the other end to put the Illini up by six.

Illinois gave Minnesota a chance by missing five of 10 free throws over the last 90 seconds, but the Gophers could not hit any of its 3-point attempts.

GAME #13

#10 Illinois 69 Wisconsin 63

Jan. 11, 2003

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Bill Self has coached his share of college standouts. The Illinois coach would take Brian Cook over all of them. In fact, he'd take Cook over any player in college basketball right now after the senior scored 24 of his career-high 31 points in the second half of No. 10 Illinois' 69-63 victory over Wisconsin.

Benching for much of the first half after picking up two early fouls, Cook scored on a dunk to open the second half and later scored 15 straight points for the Illini as they built a 14-point lead. Cook also helped Illinois hold the Badgers to just five points over the first 9:22 of the second half.

Cook finished 12-of-19 from the field, including 2-of-3 from 3-point range, and had nine rebounds in just 26 minutes. He scored 24 of Illinois' 33 second-half points.

Illinois led 36-30 at halftime despite playing much of it without Cook, the Big Ten's leading scorer. He committed his second foul with 10:29 to go in the first half and the score tied at 19 and spent the rest of the half on the bench.

James Augustine added a career-high 17 points for the Illini, while Kirk Penney led Wisconsin with 18 points.

Illinois was playing in front of dozens of ex-players who were attending a basketball reunion, including Phoenix Suns owner Jerry Colangelo. Colangelo, captain of the 1962 Illini basketball team, presented the school with a $1.25 million endowment for five men's basketball scholarships.

GAME #14

#8 Illinois 61 Iowa 68

Jan. 15, 2003

Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Iowa City, Iowa

Illinois trailed most of the game, and could get no closer than two points the entire second half. Brian Cook, the Big Ten's leading scorer, had 20 points and 12 rebounds for Illinois, but finished 8-of-19 from the field, including 0-for-4 from behind the 3-point line.

Iowa's defense outthusted and frustrated the Illini by closing passing lanes, forcing 17 turnovers and grabbing every missed Illini shot in the final 10 minutes of the game. The 61 points by the Illini was 18 below their season average.

Illinois appeared ready to make a move when Sean Harrington hit a 3-pointer from the right baseline to make it 56-54 with 7:03 to go. Following a layup by Glen Worley, Iowa built a seven-point lead, its biggest of the second half, on a fast break layup by Boyd with 6:14 remaining.

The teams traded baskets for the next four minutes, and momentum appeared ready to shift again when Worley picked up his fourth foul with 4:17 to go. Freshman guard Dee Brown, who scored eight points and had five assists, made two free throws to make it 61-56.

Minutes later, Deron Williams hit a 3-pointer to make it 66-61. But Illinois would get no closer as it missed shots or committed turnovers down the stretch.

Illinois shot 40 percent for the game, but made only 21 percent from behind the 3-point line. Illinois also got into foul trouble in the second half, committing 15 fouls in the period and put Iowa in the bonus with more than nine minutes left.

GAME #15

#8 Illinois 66 #18 Indiana 74

Jan. 18, 2003

Assembly Hall, Bloomington, Ind.

Jeff Newton scored a career-high 28 points, grabbed eight rebounds and blocked five shots in leading No. 18 Indiana to a 74-66 victory over No. 8 Illinois.

With Indiana continually going inside to Newton and George Leach, who finished with eight points and 11 rebounds, the Hoosiers were able to get the Illini's front line into early foul trouble.

With Indiana's leading scorer Bracey Wright out for the second straight game because of a pinched nerve in his lower back and Tom Coverdale and Kyle Hornsby combining for only seven points, the Hoosiers went to their power game.

Illinois was led by 18 points and 5-7 shooting from 3-point land by freshman Dee Brown.

But after Brown accounted for back-to-back 3s and gave Illinois an 11-4 lead in the game's opening minutes, the Illini struggled to score and the Hoosiers took advantage.

Hornsby's only basket, a 3-pointer less than four minutes in, and A.J. Moye's block of an alley-oop play ignited Indiana, which went on a 16-3 run to take a 20-14 lead. The Hoosiers never trailed again.

Newton accounted for half of Indiana's 38 second-half points and was virtually the entire Indiana offense during one stretch. He scored 15 of 18 points as the Hoosiers pulled away for a 60-45 lead with 8:57 to go.

Illinois rallied, closing to 70-66 with 25.9 seconds left, but two free throws by Donald Perry and two more from Newton sealed the game.

GAME #16

#18 Illinois 75 Purdue 62

Jan. 22, 2003
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Brian Cook scored 16 of his 22 points in the second half as No. 18 Illinois beat Purdue 75-62 to snap the Boilermakers' six-game winning streak.

Cook, the Big Ten's leading scorer at 21 points a game, had just two field goals and six points in the first half. He was more assertive in the second half and so was Illinois.

The Illini worked the ball down low to Cook, who scored his first two baskets of the half on nifty post moves before getting into foul trouble. Cook was called for his fourth foul with 8:24 to go and was forced to the bench.

With Cook out of the game, Purdue cut the deficit to one point on a 3-pointer by Melvin Buckley, a bucket by Brandin McKnight and a two free throws by Willie Deane.

After a timeout, Dee Brown hit a long jumper and converted a three-point play on a fast break to extend the Illini's lead to 64-56. Purdue never got any closer.

Luther Head had a season-high 15 points on 5-of-9 shooting for Illinois while freshman Deron Williams added 11 points in one his best games of the season. Williams led the Illini in rebounding with seven boards and tied his season high with seven assists.

Willie Deane led Purdue with 14 points, but shot just 3-of-11 from the field. The Illini also held Purdue center Chris Booker, who entered the game averaging over 14 points in Big Ten play, to 2-of-10 shooting and just five points for the game.

GAME #17

#18 Illinois 75 Penn State 63

Jan. 25, 2003
Bryce-Jordan Center, State College, Pa.

Brian Cook, the Big Ten's leading scorer, didn't get to play much for No. 18 Illinois. Turns out, the Illini didn't need him.

James Augustine had 19 points and 12 rebounds and Nick Smith added 10 points to lead Illinois to a 75-63 victory over Penn State.

Illinois had to play most of the game without Cook, who came in leading the Big Ten with 22.6 points per game. Cook, who scored four of his 11 points late in the game, sat the last 9:55 of the first half after picking up a personal foul and a technical foul. He got his fourth foul with 12:06 to play and sat for almost nine minutes. Cook played just 17 minutes.

The Nittany Lions fought their way back into the game behind the inside play of Aaron Johnson, and a 3-pointer by Sharif Chambliss brought Penn State within 48-46 with 10:53 left.

Illinois went back up by six on baskets by Augustine and Dee Brown, and the game took a critical turn when the Illini came up with a loose ball and Sean Harrington hit a 3-pointer from the right corner for a 55-46 lead. Augustine would convert a three-point play as the Illini went on a 14-0 run to go up 62-46 with 7:31 left.

Luther Head added 13 points for Illinois, and Brown had 11 assists. Cook picked up the personal and technical and went to the bench with 9:55 left in the first half. Watkins had two layups and a three-point play in the final minutes to pull the Nittany Lions within 38-29 at halftime.

GAME #18

#13 Illinois 67 Michigan 60

Jan. 29, 2003
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Cramped and dehydrated, Brian Cook was doubled over in pain. He couldn't sit up. He couldn't celebrate with his teammates. He could barely even speak. After his effort in the second half against Michigan, it was no surprise.

The senior forward scored 26 of his 30 points in the second half - one fewer than the entire Michigan team - to lead No. 13 Illinois to a 67-60 comeback win.

"He left it all on the floor," Illinois coach Bill Self said. "That's what happens when you play 20 minutes and you play every possession like it's your last."

Because he did, the Illini were able to rally and snap Michigan's 13-game winning streak. They trailed 47-39 with 9:07 to go when they went on a 16-6 run to take a two-point lead - their first since the first half.

After a basket by freshman James Augustine cut the deficit to 47-41, Cook was fouled by Graham Brown going up for a shot. After the call, Bernard Robinson Jr. picked up a technical foul - the second of the game for Michigan. It was costly.

Cook made all four free throws and scored nine straight points to bring Illinois within one. He then set up the go-ahead basket for Illinois on a lob down low to Augustine, who dunked it to give Illinois a 55-53 lead. The Illini led the rest of the way.

Cook scored 18 of Illinois' 22 points at one point in the second half and finished one shy of his career high.

Coach Tommy Amaker said Michigan couldn't find an answer for Cook in the second half after holding him to four points in the first.

GAME #19

#13 Illinois 65 Michigan State 68

Feb. 2, 2003

Breslin Center, East Lansing, Mich.

Paul Davis scored a career-high 15 points and Alan Anderson also had 15 as Michigan State rallied from a big first-half deficit to beat No. 13 Illinois 68-65.

The Fighting Illini had won three straight and seven of nine. Brian Cook, who came in as the Big Ten's leading scorer at 22 points a game, was held to 13 in 22 minutes because of foul trouble. He picked up his fourth foul with 11:57 to play.

Michigan State took its first lead at 45-44 on Maurice Ager's 3-pointer with 14:27 left. There were five lead changes and two ties over the next eight-plus minutes.

After fouling out Augustus Anagnonye, Cook's two free throws with 1:24 left were Illinois' first points in nearly four minutes. Chris Hill's 3-pointer with just under a minute left put Michigan State ahead 68-64 and essentially sealed the win.

Illinois led 15-2 six minutes into the game as the Spartans missed five of their first six shots and committed six turnovers. Michigan State then outscored the Illini 11-3 to pull within five, only to watch Brown score six straight points in less than 40 seconds.

The Spartans closed the half with a 10-4 run - capped by Anderson's controversial 3-pointer at the halftime buzzer - over the final two minutes to cut the deficit to 40-34.

Illinois coach Bill Self argued with the officials that the shot wasn't released before time expired, and replays showed he might have been correct, but the call stood.

GAME #20

#16 Illinois 76 Ohio State 57

Feb. 9, 2003

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Coach Bill Self found little fault with Illinois after a dominating first half he called his team's best of the season. There was plenty to go around by the end of the game, though.

The 16th-ranked Illini built a 32-point lead early in the second half against Ohio State only to have it cut in half with about eight minutes left. Illinois held on for a 76-57 victory.

Brian Cook scored 22 points and reserve Roger Powell added 14 for Illinois, which made a season-high 12 3-pointers in winning its 14th straight home game.

The Buckeyes trailed by 32 points early in the second half. A 14-0 run, with half the points coming from Brent Darby, helped cut the deficit in half with 7:58 left. But Ohio State never got the lead under double digits and fell to 1-5 on the road this season.

Darby lead the Buckeyes with 20 points, but was just 6-of-21 from the field.

Illinois jumped out in front early, taking a 17-1 lead. The Buckeyes were held without a field goal the first 6:45 of the game. After a basket by Ohio State's Matt Sylvester made it 17-3, Illinois outscored the Buckeyes 13-3. The Illini held Ohio State to 24 percent shooting in the first half, forced eight turnovers and led 49-22 at halftime.

Cook made a short jumper and hit two free throws early in the second half to give Illinois its largest lead of the game, 32 points. Ohio State eventually got the lead down to 67-51, but consecutive baskets by Cook and two free throws from Harrington pushed it back to 20.

Deron Williams tied a career-high with 12 points for Illinois on 4-of-7 shooting from 3-point range.

GAME #21

#14 Illinois 61 Purdue 70

Feb. 15, 2003

Mackey Arena, West Lafayette, Ind.

Junior Kenneth Lowe scored 23 points as Purdue beat No. 14 Illinois 70-61 to move into a three-way tie for the conference lead with Wisconsin and Michigan.

A 3-pointer by Lowe - who was 13-for-15 from the free-throw line - gave Purdue an 11-point lead with 5-1/2 minutes left.

Illinois slowly chipped away, with a layup by Brian Cook and a three by Deron Williams cutting the deficit to 56-53 with two minutes remaining. But the Illini were unable to get any closer.

Willie Deane scored nine of his 10 points in the final two minutes. With Purdue up by five, Deane stepped in front of a pass from Sean Harrington and was fouled. He sank both free throws. Another Illini turnover led to a three-point play for Deane that sealed the win.

Cook, the conference's leading scorer, had 20 points but no other Illini player reached double digits.

Lowe was fouled on a jumper and sank the free throw for three three-point play and a 48-39 lead. He would sink two free throws with 10-1/2 minutes remaining for a 50-39 lead, Purdue's first double-digit lead of the game.

Illinois started off strong, torching Purdue from the outside at the beginning of the game. Three quick 3-pointers gave Illinois an 11-2 lead. But Purdue settled down, going on a 13-2 run to take the lead. The Boilermakers led 35-32 at the half.

Despite snow, strong wind and frigid temperatures, Purdue had its second sellout of the season, though about 2,000 of the 14,123 fans were for Illinois.

GAME #22

#20 Illinois 70 Michigan State 40

Feb. 18, 2003
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Dee Brown felt he owed his teammates a big game and he delivered.

The freshman guard had 24 points, five rebounds and five steals and No. 20 Illinois held Michigan State scoreless for a 9:38 span in the second half in a 70-40 victory on Tuesday night.

The 6-foot Brown seemed to be involved in every play. He made two steals to spark an 18-0 run in the first half and led capped several fast breaks with layups before leaving the game with 5:42 to play.

The Illini pulled away for good when Brown's layup with 11:42 to play sparked a 21-0 run that put them up 69-28. The Spartans were held scoreless until Chris Hill's 3-pointer broke the drought with 3:30 to play.

By then it was far too late for the Spartans, who missed 22 of 32 shots in the second half and wound up shooting only 32 percent for the game.

The Illini won their 15th straight home game. It was coach Bill Self's 70th win in three seasons at Illinois and the 199th of his career. Reserve center Nick Smith was hobbled by a sprained ankle but wound up playing 23 minutes and scoring nine points, all in the first half.

They also played most of the game without leading scorer Brian Cook, who played only 15 minutes and scored four points.

After the Spartans used a 6-0 run to take an 8-2 lead, but then that, the first half belonged to Illinois. Brown's 3-point-er with nine minutes left capped an 18-0 run for a 20-8 lead.

GAME #23

#20 Illinois 73 Northwestern 61

Feb. 22, 2003
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Roger Powell scored a career-high 20 points and Brian Cook had 13 of his 17 in the second half as No. 20 Illinois beat Northwestern 73-61.

Cook, the Big Ten's leading scorer at 19.8 points a game, got off to a slow start but made up for it during a crucial stretch in the second half.

After going just 1-of-3 from the field in the first half, Cook was more assertive after halftime. He scored the Illini's first basket of second half, then called for the ball each time down the court after Northwestern cut the Illini lead to six with 10:23 to play.

Cook scored 10 of 12 points, including an alley-oop dunk, for the Illini over an eight-minute span that saw the Illini extend their lead back to nine with 3:30 to go.

Cook finished 6-of-11 from the field and had 10 rebounds. Dee Brown had 18 points, five rebounds and five assists for Illinois, which shot 55 percent and finished with a 28-20 edge in rebounding.

Illinois coach Bill Self got his 200th win in a matchup that felt like a home game for the Illini despite being at the United Center in Chicago.

Powell scored 11 points during a 22-6 run as the Illini opened a 31-13 lead. Powell also hit two 3s, tying a career high, and surprised Jitum Young from behind by blocking his attempted dunk on a breakaway.

Illinois shot 74 percent in the first half but saw its 18-point lead trimmed to 43-33 at halftime. Mohamed Hachad hit two 3-pointers and scored eight straight points for Northwestern during a 10-2 run that got it back into the game before the half.

#18 Illinois 80 Indiana 54

Feb. 25, 2003
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Brian Cook scored 17 points, including nine in a decisive run to start the second half, as No. 18 Illinois cruised past Indiana 80-54 on Tuesday night.

The Illini (19-5, 9-4 Big Ten) pulled away from a 39-30 halftime lead with a 25-15 run and led by as many as 28 points with 4:02 to go.

It was Illinois' third straight win and 16th in a row at Assembly Hall as the Illini pulled into a second-place tie with Wisconsin in the conference. The Illini have won their last three home games by a total of 75 points.

Jeff Newton had 11 points to lead Indiana (16-10, 6-7).

Illinois opened the second half with a 9-2 run that was capped by Dee Brown's 3-pointer with 16:20 remaining. Indiana closed the gap to 10, but Cook made a layup and a 3-pointer and Brown hit from the outside to put Illinois in control for good.

Roger Powell scored 22 points for Illinois, his second career high in as many games.

George Leach and Tom Coverdale each scored nine points for Indiana, which was 8-of-25 from the field in the second half and shot 37 percent for the game.

Illinois' defense had nine steals and forced 10 turnovers.

The game was tied three times and the lead changed hands four times before the Illini pulled away with an 8-2 run to close the first half.

GAME #25

#18 Illinois 82

Michigan 79

March 1, 2003

Crisler Arena, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Brian Cook had the numbers for Illinois. Roger Powell was the difference.

Cook had 26 points and seven rebounds to lead the 18th-ranked Illini to an 82-79 victory over Michigan that moved them into a tie for first place in the conference.

Powell had 18 points, but it was his stingy defense and two key rebounds in the closing minute that helped Illinois to its fourth consecutive victory.

After Michigan's LaVell Blanchard scored 16 points in the first half as the Wolverines took a 46-44 lead, Illinois coach Bill Self turned to Powell to blanket the senior forward in the second half. Blanchard, who led Michigan with 25 points, had far fewer open looks at the basket.

The Illini posted their seventh straight win over the Wolverines, who lost at home for the first time this season in a game that had eight ties and 22 lead changes.

Illinois trailed 69-64 midway through the second half before Cook scored eight of Illinois' next 11 points for a 75-70 lead.

Freshman Chris Hunter then made consecutive three-point plays to give the Wolverines a 76-75 lead with 1:58 left.

Dee Brown hit a 12-foot jumper with 1:20 remaining to give Illinois the lead for good. Michigan missed its next three shots.

Michigan grabbed its biggest lead of the first half at 44-37 on a short jumper by Blanchard with 2:19 remaining. Cook scored four of his 15 first-half points in the final two minutes, including a jumper with 2 seconds left, to cut Michigan's lead to 46-44.

GAME #26

#14 Illinois 59

Wisconsin 60

March 5, 2003

Kohl Center, Madison, Wis.

Devin Harris had two free throws coming with four-tenths of a second left. One would give Wisconsin the Big Ten title outright.

He missed the first.

"No doubt in my mind, the second one was going in," said Harris, who calmly swished that one to give the 24th-ranked Badgers a 60-59 victory over No. 14 Illinois and its first outright conference title since 1947.

After a timeout, Brian Cook of the Illini caught Sean Harrington's long inbounds pass but couldn't get off a shot in time.

Harris was fouled by Dee Brown as he drove to the basket with under a second left. After his first free throw rattled in and out, Harris stepped back as the crowd groaned, then composed himself and made the second.

But Ryan said with just four-tenths of a second left, he knew the Illini would be hard-pressed to get off a game-winning shot in time, especially with Cook coming so far out of the paint for the pass.

The Badgers led 59-55 with a minute remaining but Brown stole an inbounds pass and scored on a layup and Cook tied it with a 10-foot jumper with 9 seconds left, completing a comeback from a 10-point deficit with under six minutes left.

Illinois was seeking a share of its fourth Big Ten title in six years, but the Illini never led after the 6:15 mark of the first half.

That nearly changed on the final play of the game, when Cook was off-target after the buzzer went off.

#13 Illinois 94 Northwestern 65

March 14, 2003
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

It took Illinois less than five minutes to stomp out any hope Northwestern had of an upset.

Taking advantage of their size, depth, offensive skill and a stingy defense, the 13th-ranked Illini ripped off a 16-2 run four minutes into the game and cruised to a 94-65 victory in the Big Ten Tournament Quarterfinals.

Big Ten Player of the Year Brian Cook set the tone, finishing with 20 points and 12 rebounds for his sixth double-double of the season. Roger Powell added 14 points on 5-of-7 shooting, and Dee Brown had 10 points and nine assists as Illinois won for the sixth time in its last seven games.

Illinois, seeded second, will play Indiana in the semifinals Saturday.

The Illini shot 65 percent in the first half, when they all but ended the game, and finished at 52 percent. They outrebounded Northwestern 41-35, had a 30-18 advantage in the paint and held the Wildcats to less than 30 percent shooting.

Northwestern reserve Davor Duvancic had a career-high 20 points to lead the Wildcats.

Illinois has won 15 of its last 16 against Northwestern, including a 73-61 victory three weeks ago at the United Center.

#13 Illinois 73 Indiana 72

March 15, 2003
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Brian Cook's mere presence means everything to Illinois. When the Big Ten Player of the Year spends time on the bench with foul trouble, as he did Saturday, the Illini suffer.

When he's in the game, they're a very different team, one that's very difficult to beat.

Cook scored 25 points and made two free throws with 5.2 seconds left as the Illini withstood a late Indiana charge led by Tom Coverdale to beat the Hoosiers 73-72 in the Big Ten semifinals.

Illinois (23-6) will play Ohio State on Sunday for the title and the automatic NCAA tournament bid. The No. 8 seeded Buckeyes won their third straight Saturday, beating Michigan State 55-54.

Coverdale made a pair of 3-pointers in the final 6.7 seconds - the final one with four-tenths of a second to go - and nearly brought the Hoosiers back from a 16-point halftime deficit.

He scored 19 of his 21 points in the second half, making four 3-pointers.

Luther Head scored a season-high 16 for Illinois, while Indiana's Bracey Wright also had 16.

With Cook on the bench for more than six minutes after getting his second and third fouls early in the second half, the Hoosiers chopped the halftime lead to five. George Leach had seven points during a 16-7, run capped by Wright's 3-pointer.

But Cook's return sparked the Illini, and they appeared to pull away again. He had two quick baskets and a three-point play, and Sean Harrington and Head hit 3-pointers, putting the Illini up 55-42 with 7:14 left.

GAME #30

#13 Illinois 72 Ohio State 59

March 16, 2003
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Illinois got everything it wanted out of the Big Ten tournament.

With motivation after finishing second in the regular season, Illinois won the Big Ten tournament with a 72-59 victory over weary Ohio State on Sunday.

In winning for the eighth time in nine games, the Illini (24-6) proved that not only are they the Big Ten's best team, they're its deepest.

Illinois' two best players - Big Ten player of the year Brian Cook and freshman guard Dee Brown - had off days, but it did not matter as the rest of the Illini picked up the slack.

Roger Powell scored 16 points, and Sean Harrington had 12, all from 3-point range. James Augustine, had a double-double, finishing with 12 points and 10 rebounds.

Ohio State (17-14) was playing its fourth game in as many days, and its fatigue showed. The Buckeyes had trouble finishing their shots, going 20-of-55 (36 percent) from the field, and they had trouble matching the Illini inside.

Ohio State was led by Brent Darby, who finished with 27 points and six assists.

When the buzzer sounded, the Illini threw their arms into the air and quickly put on their Big Ten championship hats and T-shirts. Cook was named the Tournament's Most Outstanding Player, while he and Powell were named to the Big Ten All-Tournament Team.

GAME #31

#11 Illinois 65 Western Kentucky 60

March 20, 2003

RCA Dome, Indianapolis, Ind.

Dee Brown believes he and Illinois' two other freshman starters are only learning how to play.

Brown, Deron Williams and James Augustine combined for 37 points, 16 rebounds and 13 assists in their first tournament game, and Brown hit two free throws with 22.8 seconds left to help the fourth-seeded Illini seal a 65-60 victory over Western Kentucky in the West Regional.

The freshmen even overshadowed Big Ten player of the year Brian Cook, who had his typical game with 17 points and 10 rebounds.

But the emergence of Augustine, Williams and Brown was the big surprise and proved to be the difference. They made big plays at critical moments, and when Cook fouled out with 2:03 to go, they closed out the victory.

Augustine provided another inside presence, especially with Cook on the bench, and finished with 10 points and nine rebounds. Williams took only seven shots but made all three of his 3-pointers and finished with 11 points and four assists.

After getting Cook into foul trouble early in the second half, Western Kentucky had a chance to exploit Illinois' inexperience.

Brown, Augustine and Williams did not let 13th-seeded Western Kentucky take advantage. Nate Williams led the Hilltoppers with 17 points.

Western Kentucky led 43-41 with 12:27 to go, but Cook tied the score with a dunk and Deron Williams gave Illinois the lead with his last 3-pointer.

GAME #32

#11 Illinois 60 #22 Notre Dame 68

March 22, 2003

RCA Dome, Indianapolis, Ind.

Dan Miller matched a career high with 23 points as Notre Dame moved into the round of 16 with a 68-60 win over Illinois on Saturday in the West Regional.

It was a disappointing second-round exit for Illinois (25-7), the Big Ten tournament champions. Conference player of the year Brian Cook had 19 points and 16 rebounds.

The Fighting Illini trailed by 13 at halftime but cut it to six with 1:45 left after Deron Williams' tip in. They didn't score another basket.

The Irish came out shooting 3-pointers on almost every possession. Their first three field goals were 3s and they started 6-for-11 from long range. Miller sank his first five 3s, and the Irish went 11-for-16 in the half.

Miller finished 5-for-7, and Chris Thomas and Matt Carroll each hit three from beyond the arc. Carroll, playing on a sprained left ankle, scored 11 points. Torin Francis grabbed 14 rebounds for Notre Dame.

Illinois never led and had trouble getting into its offense early. Cook missed five of his first six shots, and the Illini shot only 38 percent. Dee Brown added 14 points for Illinois.

Notre Dame built a 47-34 lead, but struggled to start the second half. The Irish missed seven of eight shots, allowing Illinois to pull within eight.

Illinois made a late run, but didn't have enough left to mount a serious challenge. The Illini shot only 35 percent from the field.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Head Coach Elwood Brown (1 year, 6-8, .429)

Leo Hana was put in charge of building the basketball program at Illinois after a women's program had existed for years. A team, led by its playing captain Roy Riley, beat Champaign High School Jan. 6, two weeks before Hana was able to replace Riley with a "professional" coach. Elwood Brown became Illinois' first basketball coach Jan. 20, 1906, and proceeded to turn in a commendable coaching job, especially since the squad lost two of its mainstays during the season. "The results of the season were on the whole satisfactory. In the future, there will not be such a lack of material as hampered the coach (Brown) this season," wrote the 1907 Illio.

Head Coach F.L. Pinckney (1 year, 1-10, .090)

Pinckney took over the coaching reins for a year in 1907. There was promise for a good season after the solid start the program had made in 1906. More than 100 men tried out for the team. Pinckney found at least three freshmen he thought would help the team and placed them on the varsity squad. However, the Western Conference Committee declared the three ineligible, leaving Pinckney with a much depleted team and Illinois with its worst record ever. The decision to make the freshmen ineligible gave Pinckney the same problem Brown faced the year before - turning out a winning team with limited talent.

Head Coach Fletcher Lane (1 year, 20-6, .769)

Fletcher Lane's all-time best winning percentage among Illinois coaches is misleading, since he only coached for one year. His 20-6 team of 1908 benefited from a long Southern trip in which the team beat several YMCA and club teams from Tennessee, Texas, Alabama, and Georgia. The club was billed as a closely-knit group, due in part to the long trip. The players, however, did not appear to appreciate Lane's coaching style. M.G. Dadant, the 1908 captain wrote, "Handicapped as they were by the lack of any competent coaching, the players went through the season in perfect harmony, each one relinquishing any personal feelings that the team might be better as a whole."

Head Coach H. V. Juul (2 years, 12-10, .545)

H. V. Juul became the first Illinois basketball coach to stay for more than one year. He also became the first former Fighting Illini player to head the Illinois basketball program and was captain of the 1907 squad. After leading Illinois to a 12-10 record over two years, he departed to become a professional baseball player, enjoying stints with the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds. Juul was the son of a former Illinois Congressman and, prior to his death in 1928, was a committeeman in the 35th Ward in Chicago as well as campaign director for the Republican Party headquarters at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago.

Head Coach T.E. Thompson (2 years, 14-14, .500)

T. E. Thompson also had a two-year career as head basketball coach at Illinois, compiling a 14-14 record. Thompson claimed, at the time, to be the only player in Western Conference history to have played five years of collegiate basketball. He was at Northwestern for one year before playing at Illinois for four additional seasons. In addition to his duties as basketball coach at Illinois in 1911-12, he also served as Athletic Director George Huff's only assistant in the athletic department, doubling as the school's general manager of athletics and as ticket manager. After leaving the university, he founded The Thomas Thompson Company in Highland Park, Ill., a manufacturer of enamel products.

Head Coach Ralph Jones (8 years, 85-34, .714)

After arriving at Illinois from Purdue, Ralph Jones left an impressive legacy behind in Champaign. Besides coaching freshman football and baseball during his tenure at Illinois, he was credited by some with originating the fast break in basketball. After leading the Fighting Illini to one outright crown and the sharing of one other conference championship, Jones left to coach at Lake Forest Academy. In addition,

Jones was head coach of the Chicago Bears from 1930-33, where, among other achievements, he was credited with the revival of the T-formation and the use of a man in motion to throw off the defense.

Head Coach Frank Winters (2 years, 25-12, .676)

While in his two-year stint as coach of the Illinois basketball team, Frank Winters was faced with having only a handful of veteran players available and was forced into installing an entirely new system of play. His 25-12 record in two years was a testament to the way Winters made negatives into positives. Upon arriving as head coach in the fall of 1920, he inherited a team whose best player, Chuck Carney, had just severely injured his knee in the last football game. Nonetheless, the team went on to an 11-7 record and improved to 14-5 in the 1922 campaign.

Head Coach J. Craig Ruby (14 years, 148-95, .609)

J. Craig Ruby was known as one of the great basketball tacticians of his time. He and legendary Kansas coach Phog Allen actively campaigned together for higher baskets to offset the advantage of tall centers. Ruby alone advocated the elimination of the dribble to do away with stalling, and wanted the hoop enlarged to 20 inches in diameter rather than the standard 18.

Ruby's second season at Illinois produced a tie for the Big Ten championship in 1924, but it was not until 1935 that he could lead his team to tie for top conference honors again.

Head Coach Douglas R. Mills (11 years, 151-66, .696)

Doug Mills was not only an extremely successful basketball coach at Illinois, but one of the University's most prolific and long-standing administrators. He began his association with Fighting Illini athletics as a standout in both football and basketball in the late 1920s. Mills became the first Illinois head basketball coach to lead his squad to three Big Ten crowns. Also included in his 11-year coaching tenure was the formation of the legendary

"Whiz Kids" team of 1942 and '43. That team won back-to-back Big Ten crowns. After retiring from the coaching ranks in 1947, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Head Coach Harry Combes (20 years, 316-150, .678)

Harry Combes only had to move across town after accepting the job as head coach at Illinois. Prior to joining the Illini, he had been head coach at Champaign High School where he posted an astounding 254-46 record, including winning the state title in 1946. Once at Illinois he won three Big Ten titles in his first five seasons ('49, '51 and '52). It was also Combes who led the Fighting Illini to three third-place finishes in the NCAA Tournament in the four-year period from 1949-52. The squad won 79 of the 100 games during those four years. Illinois' 1952 Final Four appearance was the first officially recognized Final Four and the only Final Four appearance Illinois made until 1989. Until Lou Henson broke the record in 1990, Combes' 316 wins were the most wins ever by an Illinois head basketball coach.

Head Coach Harv Schmidt (7 years, 89-77, .536)

Harv Schmidt, a former all-time great player at Illinois, returned to his alma mater in 1968 after serving as an assistant at New Mexico for three years. Within three years of his arrival, he had brought Illinois back to among the elite programs in the Big Ten. The beginning of his tenure marked what possibly was the high-water mark in fan enthusiasm. Illinois led the nation in attendance in 1970, averaging 16,128 per home contest, as students routinely camped out for tickets outside the newly opened, state-of-the-art Assembly Hall.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Head Coach Gene Bartow (1 year, 8-18, .308)

Brought to Illinois to continue the magical rebuilding jobs he had undertaken at Valparaiso and Memphis State, Gene Bartow was counted on by Athletic Director Cecil Coleman to restore the successful level of play fans had become accustomed to in the past few decades. However, Bartow's stay in Champaign was short-lived, lasting only one year and producing an 8-18 record. The lure away from Illinois was a strong one for Bartow; he was hired away by UCLA to replace legendary Bruin coach John Wooden.

Head Coach Lou Henson (21 years, 423-224, .654)

Lou Henson, the all-time winningest coach in Illinois basketball history, came to Champaign-Urbana after successful head coaching stints at Hardin-Simmons and New Mexico State Universities. He finished his career No. 12 on the NCAA all-time victory list with 663 wins. Illinois became a national power under Henson, being selected to the NCAA tournament 11 times. The highlight of the postseason competition came in 1989 when the spectacular Flying Illini team won a school-record 31 contests and advanced to the Final Four. Henson's Illini were also seeded among the top four in their regional for six consecutive years (1984-89) for the second-longest such streak (next to North Carolina) ever. Illinois finished in the upper division in the Big Ten nine consecutive seasons (1983-91), and had 11 straight years of producing a plus-.500 Big Ten record from 1981 to 1991, the fifth-longest streak of that kind in Big Ten history. Henson led the Illini to a 1984 Big Ten co-championship and No. 1 national ranking in 1989. He coached Illinois to nine straight 20-win seasons from 1983 to 1991 and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 victories.

Head Coach Bill Self (3 years, 78-24, .765)

Bill Self was named the 15th men's basketball coach at the University of Illinois on June 9, 2000, succeeding Lon Kruger, who was named head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Self came to Champaign-Urbana after three seasons at Tulsa, where he led the Golden Hurricane to an NCAA Final Eight appearance in 2000. His previous head coaching experience included a four-year stint at Oral Roberts (1994-97).

Self became the first Big Ten coach since 1912 to win Big Ten titles in each of his first two seasons. In his first season, Self led the Illini to a share of the Big Ten championship and a trip to the NCAA Final Eight after the squad earned a No. 1 seed. Illinois' 27 wins in 2001 were the second-most in school history. His second team saw the Illini again share the Big Ten title and advance to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen with a 26-9 record. With 25 wins in his third season, Self compiled 78 wins, most ever in three-consecutive seasons at Illinois. Illinois won its first Big Ten Tournament title in 2003. He left Illinois to become the head coach at Kansas in April, 2003.

Big Ten Champions

Over the course of 98 years, the University of Illinois has enjoyed the creation of a stellar basketball tradition that includes Final Four appearances, All-Americans, Academic All-Americans, NBA first-round draft selections, and a place among the nation's elite basketball programs year-in and year-out. The University of Illinois basketball tradition got its start when the Big Ten Conference officially began playing basketball in 1906. At the time the member schools of the "Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives", or "Western Conference", or "Big Ten Conference" as it was known were University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Purdue University, and the University of Wisconsin.

1906-1909 (34-30)

The first official game in Illinois history was a 71-4 romp over Champaign High School in Urbana on Jan. 12, 1906. The first four years of Illinois hoops saw four different coaches who combined for a 34-30 record. In the first season of Illinois basketball the Illini went 6-8, 3-6 in the Big Ten under head coach Elwood Brown. The following season the Illini's record dropped to 1-10, 0-8 under F.L. Pickney. A new coach, Fletcher Lane, and a new season arrived in 1907-08 and the Illini posted a 20-8 record and went 6-5 in the conference. Despite a successful season, the Illini underwent its fourth coaching change in as many years and new mentor Herb V. Juul stayed two seasons (1909 and 1910) and was 7-6 in his inaugural year and 5-4 the next season.

- Big Ten grows to eight teams with the addition of Iowa in the 1907 season.

1910-1919 (95-48)

The new decade brought the program an extended taste of success. In the 1910s Illinois won two Big Ten titles, in 1915 and 1917, and compiled a 95-48 record including a perfect 16-0 record in 1915. That 1915 season was the third in the eight-year tenure of head coach Ralph Jones and it produced the only unbeaten season in Illini history and the first Big Ten title for the Illinois basketball program. Following the perfect season the Illinois team was named national champions by the Helms Foundation. Jones' 1915 team scored twice as many points as its opponents and won the conference title by three games over Chicago.

The arrival of the Woods brothers in 1915 had a lot to do with the success of this era. Guard Ray Woods was named first-team All-America all three years he competed (1915-17), and brother Ralf, a forward, led the team in scoring in both 1916 and 1917. His consistency at the free throw line led to the establishment of the Ralf Woods Award, which is still given annually to the Fighting Illini player with the best free-throw percentage.

Illinois followed up its conference championship season with a second-place finish after posting a 13-3 record. The Illini dropped two games to Northwestern and one to eventual champion Wisconsin, but the first loss to the Wildcats was the Illini's first-ever overtime game as Northwestern scored two points in the overtime period to beat Illinois, 23-21, Feb. 12, 1916, at what is now the Kenney Gym Annex.

In 1918, Jones and the Illini picked up their second conference championship crown in three years as Illinois went 13-3 overall and 10-2 in league games. The 1917 team featured a starting guard named George Halas. The professional football pioneer and former Chicago Bear owner and head coach was known on the team for his gritty defense and he was named captain of the 1918 squad before entering the armed forces Jan. 18, 1918.

- Big Ten grows to 10 teams with addition of Michigan in the 1918 season.

1920-29 (99-68)

Jones led the Illini into the decade of the 1920s and started off this period with a 9-4 record and a third-place finish in the Big Ten in 1920. The following season a new mentor, Frank Winters, was in Champaign-Urbana and his two-year stay produced an 11-7 mark in 1921 and a 14-5 record in 1922.

Illinois Athletic Director George Huff replaced Winters with J. Craig Ruby, whose 14-year tenure at Illinois is the third longest in program history. In his first three seasons, Ruby led the Illini to a 31-18 record and a share of the conference title with Wisconsin in 1924. In 1924, Illinois was 11-6 overall and 8-4 in the Big Ten.

After winning Illinois' third conference title in 1924, Ruby's Illini matched the win mark the following year (11-6, 8-4) but dropped to third place in the standings. The Illini opened the 1926 season on Dec. 12, 1925, against Butler in the newly built Men's Gymnasium, which would later be renamed George Huff Gymnasium after Illinois Athletic Director George Huff. Illinois won its first game at the new gym, 23-22. The remainder of the decade saw Illinois go 10-7 in both 1927 and 1929 taking fourth and fifth in the league standings, and 9-8 in 1926. The only losing season in Ruby's Illinois career came with a 5-12 mark in 1928

1930-39 (120-61)

In the decade of the 1930s Illinois picked up Big Ten championships number four and five in 1935 and 1937. In 1935 the Illini squad was 5-3 after its first eight games, but rallied in the closing stretch of the season and won its last four contests to grab a share of the conference title.

A new star on the playing floor emerged in the 1935 season with the addition of Harry Combes to the roster. Combes, a three-year letterwinner, starred for the Illini from 1935-37 and later returned to his alma mater as head coach of the Illini in 1948. Combes helped lead Illinois to both its Big Ten titles in the 1930s.

Ruby closed out his coaching tenure in 1935-36 leading Illinois to a 13-6 record, 7-5 in the Big Ten, and third place in the league standings.

The man chosen to replace Ruby was Douglas Mills. In his 11-year tenure as head coach, Mills established himself as the first coach in Illinois history to win or share three Big Ten championships.

In his first season, 1936-37, Mills' Illini squad captured a share of the Big Ten championship with a 10-2 league record. The Illini were 14-4 overall. Following that season, the men's gymnasium got a new name, George Huff Gymnasium, after former Illinois athletic director George Huff, who passed away on Oct. 1, 1936. During the championship season, future major league baseball Hall of Famer Lou Boudreau led the team in scoring with 8.7 points per game.

The decade of the 1940s brought much success to Illinois basketball. Head Coach Doug Mills led the Illini to consecutive Big Ten titles in 1942 and 1943. The Illini would add another league championship under Harry Combes in 1949.

The Illini were the 13th-winningest Division I team in the nation in the 1940s. Illinois' 150-57 record and .725 winning percentage was the best in the Big Ten. In 1941, Mills added to his coaching duties when he was named the school's director of athletics. That same year Art Mathisen arrived in Champaign in what would soon become the creation of the famed "Whiz Kids." In 1942, joining Mathisen were Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ken Menke, who captured the attention of the entire nation while winning back-to-back conference titles and combining for a 35-6 record, 25-2 in the Big Ten over those two seasons. To this day the "Whiz Kids" remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. They dazzled crowds everywhere averaging 58 points per game, while most teams were averaging in the low 40s.

The team was broken up March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces. All but Mathisen went on the play professionally, and Phillip became a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

After the departure of the Whiz Kids, Mills faced a major rebuilding job. Mills closed out his time as head coach at Illinois in the 1947 season. That mark coincided with the return of the "Whiz Kids" from military service. A crowd of 7,785, the largest home crowd to that point in Illinois history, jammed into Huff Gym to see their return on Dec. 6, 1946, against Cornell. The Whiz Kids played only the first half of the game in building a 49-13 lead, and the Illini won 87-39. The Illini opened league play with two losses and dug their way back to a second-place finish by winning eight of their last 10 games.

After retiring from coaching, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

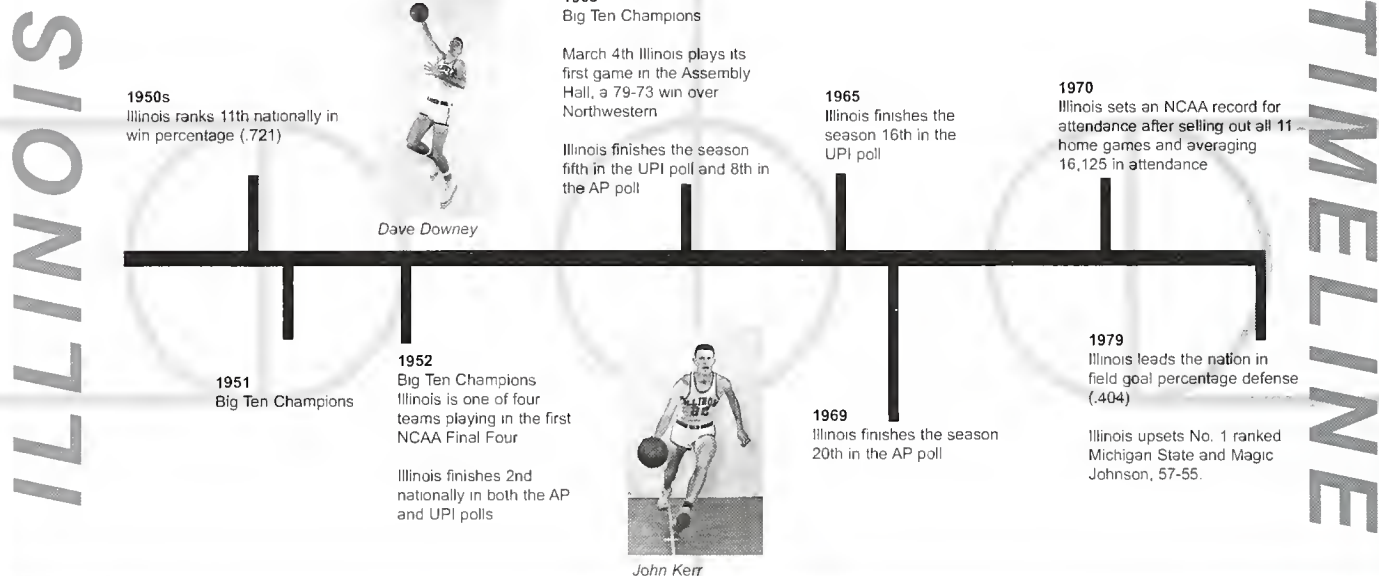

Former Illini Harry Combes was re-associated with the program when he was selected to replace Mills as head coach of the Fighting Illini. He had previously served as head coach at Champaign High School. In his first nine seasons at Illinois, he won three Big Ten titles and compiled an amazing record of 164-44 overall (.788) and 94-30 in the Big Ten (.758).

Combes first team at Illinois in 1947-48, led by Dike Eddleman and Jack Burmaster, set a Big Ten scoring record with 1,530 points, en route to a 15-5 overall record and 7-5 league finish. His second year as head coach, Combes collected his first of four Big Ten championships as a head coach. He finished his Illinois career with a total of six championships as a player and coach.

The four-year period between 1949-52 brought the University of Illinois three Big Ten championships, three 20-win seasons, and a 42-10 Big Ten mark. The 1949 squad, led by Eddleman, Bill Erickson, and Walter Osterkorn, was Illinois' first 20-game winner since 1908, finishing 21-4. That year, Illinois beat Yale, 71-67, to advance to a national semifinal showdown with Kentucky at Madison Square Garden in New York City. The Illini fell to the Wildcats, 76-47.

1950-59 (165-64)

Two of the first three years in this decade saw Illinois bring home Big Ten championships. Illinois won the title in 1951 with a 13-1 league record and produced another 20-win season with a 22-5 record. That season featured a rematch with Kentucky, which had downed the Illini in the national semifinals in 1949. Illinois beat Columbia, 79-71, and North Carolina State, 84-70, to get to the national semifinals and a rematch with the Wildcats. In a heart-breaking loss, Kentucky nipped Illinois, 76-74, on a shot by Wildcat sub Shelby Linville with 12 seconds remaining in the game. The Illini collected third place nationally by beating Oklahoma A&M, 61-46, in Minneapolis.

The 1952 season brought Illinois another Big Ten title and introduced John Kerr, a center from Tilden Tech in Chicago. He began his three-year reign as Illinois' top scorer with a sophomore-record 357 points. The Illini recorded a 22-4 overall mark and went 12-2 in the conference. Once again, Illinois advanced to the national semifinals and ran into underdog St. John's. The Redmen fought their way to a 61-59 victory in the NCAA's first Final Four, in Seattle. Illinois took another third-place award home after beating Santa Clara, 67-64, behind 26 points by Kerr.

The 1954 season was highlighted when Kerr shattered Illinois' single-season scoring record by tallying 556 points in his senior year. Kerr's

1,299 career points in three seasons currently rank 14th on the all-time Illinois scoring list. He held first place in Illini career scoring until Dave Downey passed him in 1963. After his Illinois career came to an end, Kerr started a 12-year professional career and then became the first head coach of the Chicago Bulls in 1966.

Once again the Illini hoopsters led the Big Ten in wins for a decade with a 165-64 record in the 1950s. The Illini's winning percentage, .721, ranked 11th nationally. On Dec. 17, 1956, Illinois defeated San Francisco, 62-33, snapping the Dons' 51-game regular-season win streak. Associated Press began its basketball poll in 1949 with UPI adding its poll in 1951 and from 1951-56 the Illini finished the season ranked in the Top 20 nationally every year. Illinois' highest final ranking in the 1950s was second in both polls in 1952.

- Big Ten grows to 10 teams with addition of Michigan State in the 1951 season.

1960-69 (145-95)

The 1960s produced Big Ten championship No. 11 for Illinois in 1963. That season the Illini were 20-6 overall, 11-3 in the conference. Senior Dave Downey led the team in scoring as he had the previous two seasons and he moved into first on the all-time scoring list. Downey also set the school record for points in a game, which still stands, with 53 in a road loss to Indiana on Feb. 16, 1963.

Illinois was a game back of first place in the league standings with only two games remaining when the Assembly Hall opened its doors on March 4, 1963. Illinois' first game at the Hall was an exciting 79-73 victory over Northwestern before 16,137 fans to stay within a game of first-place Ohio State. After Illinois edged Iowa, 73-69, in the last game of the season, the Fighting Illini would need an overtime loss two hours later by the Buckeyes at Indiana to share the title.

The 1965 season was highlighted by Illinois' season opening 118-83 victory over defending national-champion UCLA at the Assembly Hall. Combes called the game, "one of the best an Illinois team has ever played."

Combes closed out his Illini coaching career in 1967 with a 12-12 record and seventh-place Big Ten finish. The season was highlighted by a 98-97 victory over No. 3 Kentucky in Lexington on Dec. 8.

Another former Illini, Harv Schmidt, replaced Combes and led the team into the 1970s. Schmidt's Illini went 11-13 in 1968 and rebounded to a 19-5 record in 1969 and a second-place Big Ten finish.

1970-79 (129-129)

The decade of the 1970s brought two coaching changes, the second one brought Lou Henson, who would become the longest-tenured coach in Illinois history. In 1970, Illinois set an NCAA attendance record, selling out all 11 home games for an average of 16,128 fans per game.

Although the Illini recorded a losing mark in 1971 (11-12), that season welcomed Nick Weatherspoon from Canton, Ohio. "Spoon" stepped right into the starting lineup and led the team in rebounds. The next two years he led the team in scoring and rebounding before becoming a first-round draft selection and spending eight seasons in the NBA.

Harv Schmidt concluded his Illinois coaching career in 1974 as the Illini's record dropped to 5-18 and last place in the Big Ten standings. The following season, Gene Bartow served as head coach, but left to take the head coaching job in replacing the legendary John Wooden at UCLA after only one season. After Bartow's departure following the 1975 campaign, the University picked New Mexico State Head Coach Lou Henson to bring success back to the Illinois program. He did just that, taking a team that won 14 games in his inaugural season to a 19-11 record within just four years. The last years of the 1970s signaled the arrival of Eddie Johnson and Mark Smith, two players who would lead the team into the 1980s and pave the way for Illinois' return to national prominence.

In 1979, Illinois finished seventh in the Big Ten, but went 19-11 overall, including ascension to No. 2 in the national polls after starting the year 15-0. That year, Illinois upset top-ranked Michigan State and Magic Johnson, 57-55, in one of the school's most memorable games. That year, Illinois also led the nation in field-goal percentage (.404).

1980-89 (233-90)

Henson returned everyone for the 1980 campaign and the team gave the head coach his first of 11, 20-win seasons at Illinois. That year, Illinois made its first postseason appearance since 1963, finishing third in the NIT.

In 1981, Illinois made more strides in its return to the national spotlight with a 21-8 record, a third-place Big Ten finish and an invitation to the NCAA Tournament. The team received a first-round bye in the NCAA Tournament and beat Wyoming, 67-65, in Los Angeles to advance to the regionals in Salt Lake City, where Illinois lost to Kansas State, 57-52.

That year, the Fighting Illini led the Big Ten in scoring for the second consecutive season and were again led by Johnson and Smith. Guards Craig Tucker and Derek Harper arrived to add backcourt punch, and Harper began his Illini career being named First-Team Freshman All-America by ESPN and ABC.

The 1982 season brought Illinois another postseason appearance, in the NIT, and an 18-11 record. Harper led the Big Ten in assists and steals.

One of Illinois' best groups arrived on campus in 1983. Guards Bruce Douglas and Doug Altenberger, and forward Scott Meents and Efreem Winters joined sophomores George Montgomery and Anthony Welch to form the nucleus for a team that would win 95 games during the next four seasons.

In 1983, the Fighting Illini became the nation's 25th team to cap the 1,000-win mark with a 72-70 victory over Texas A&M in the Great Alaska Shootout. Later that year, Harper was selected First-Team All-Big Ten, falling one vote shy of being a unanimous pick, before leaving school early for the NBA draft. He was a first round selection of the Dallas Mavericks as the first pick in franchise history.

The 1984 season brought Illinois its 12th Big Ten championship in a season where Illinois had four overtime games including an epic four-overtime 75-66 victory over Michigan. The next game was a two-overtime win at Iowa, Henson's 400th victory as a college head coach. The Illini recorded a 26-5 mark and were 15-3 in Big Ten play, tying Purdue for the league title. The 1984 season also marked Illinois' first back-to-back 20-win seasons since 1951-52. The Illini would go on to record a total of nine consecutive 20-win seasons from 1983-91. Illinois advance to the NCAA Regional Finals before dropping a heart-breaking 54-51 loss to Kentucky on its home court causing the NCAA to put a rule in place not allowing a school to play in a tournament game on its home court.

The Illini started out the 1985 season ranked No. 1 nationally by Basketball Times in its pre-season poll. Illinois made a return trip to the NCAA Tournament where the Illini advanced to the Sweet 16.

From 1984-87, Illinois' stingy defense ranked first in the Big Ten allowing only 54.9 points in 1984, 55.7 in 1985, 63.3 in 1986, and 70.2 in 1987. During that same 1984-87 period, Illinois also ranked first in field goal defense, and the Illini were first in three-point defense in 1987.

Junior college transfer Ken Norman highlighted the 1986 season as he set the school record for single-season field-goal percentage (.641). The next season saw the addition of an outstanding group of young players to the roster. Guards Steve Bardo, Kendall Gill and Larry Smith joined forward Nick Anderson in a highly touted recruiting class. This group produced another 20-win season (23-8) and a trip to the NCAA Tournament, where Illinois was beaten 68-67 by Austin Peay in arguably the school's most shocking upset.

The 1988 season brought Henson his 500th career victory and laid the foundation for what would be an incredible history making season in 1989. The 1989 team may very well have been the most talented team ever assembled at Illinois. The players known as the "Flying Illini," included all the important pieces of 1988 (Kenny Battle, Gill, Bardo, Lowell Hamilton, Anderson and Smith) as well as junior college All-American P.J. Bowman and former high school All-American Marcus Liberty.

The team shattered most of its all-time records including points in a season (3,110), most steals in a season (341), and most wins in a season (31). The Fighting Illini won their first 16 games and were ranked No. 2 in the nation going into a nationally televised game against Georgia Tech, whom Illinois had already beaten, 80-75, at the Rainbow Classic in December. The Yellow Jackets led, 47-31, but Illinois managed to surge back to force overtime, eventually needing two extra periods to win the game. Along with the No. 1 ranking the next day came some bad news. Illinois' catalyst, Gill, had broken a bone in his foot and would miss the next 12 games. Hurt by the loss of Gill, Illinois lost three of the next four games and its No. 1 ranking. The Illini rallied to finish second in the Big Ten with a 14-4 record and with Gill back in the lineup, the Illini were awarded a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region of the NCAA Tournament. After rolling to victories over McNeese State and Ball State at the Hoosier Dome, a power-packed regional in Minneapolis with Missouri, Louisville and Syracuse, stood in the way of Illinois' trip to the Final Four.

Louisville fell victim to Illinois, losing 83-69, which set up a regional final matchup with Syracuse. The Fighting Illini held off Syracuse to advance to the Final Four in Seattle where Illinois faced Michigan, a team it had beat twice already in 1989, in the national semifinals. Despite Battle's 29-point, 11-rebound effort, Illinois fell to eventual national-champion Michigan, 83-81.

1990-99 (187-120)

Coming off the Final Four season, Illinois went 21-8 overall, 11-7 in the Big Ten in 1990. Gill, a senior, became the first player since Norman in 1987 to average 20 ppg and he was named a First-Team All-American by UPI. Gill led the Big Ten in scoring and was a finalist for the John Wooden Player of the Year Award. He was the fifth overall pick in the NBA draft that summer, going to the Charlotte Hornets.

Entering the 1991 season, Illinois, faced with the loss of Gill, Bardo and Liberty, who declared himself eligible for the NBA draft after his junior season, was picked to finish as low as ninth in the Big Ten by some publications. But, junior forward Andy Kaufmann burst onto the scene scoring 660 points, the second largest single-season total in Illinois history. He and the Illini proved the preseason expectations wrong by going 21-10 and finishing third in the Big Ten.

Illinois' consecutive 20-win season streak was snapped in 1992 when the Illini posted its first losing record in 14 years, going 13-15. After sitting out a season, Kaufmann returned for the 1992-93 campaign and helped lead Illinois to a 19-13 record and trip to the NCAA Tournament. The following season, Illinois again advanced to the NCAA Tournament and in the process, senior Deon Thomas broke a 13-year old record and became the school's all-time leading scorer. Thomas scored his record-breaking 1,693rd point in the championship game of the Illini/Pepsi Classic against American University and he went on to finish his career with 2,129 points.

In 1994 a young upstart freshman, Kiwane Garris, would begin his assault on the all-time scoring list. He notched 446 points as a freshman and would be the catalyst on the Illini team over the next few years.

After advancing to the NCAA Tournament in 1995, Illinois extended its run on postseason play with a berth in the 1996 NIT. In 1996, the Illini started the season 11-1 before losing Garris to injury. Without its leader, the Illini dropped its first five Big Ten games. Garris returned, but was never 100 percent and junior forward Jerry Hester missed games with a severely sprained ankle. The Illini finished the 1996 season 18-13 overall, 7-11 in the Big Ten. But more importantly the 1996 season marked the end of the most successful era in Illinois basketball when Lou Henson announced his retirement before the end of the season. In his 21 years at Illinois Henson notched 423 victories and guided the Illini to 11 NCAA Tournament appearances. The Okay, Okla. native coached Illinois to 11, 20-win seasons and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 league victories.

On March 21, 1996, a new era in Illinois basketball began when Director of Athletics Ron Guenther introduced Lon Kruger as the University's 14th men's basketball coach. Kruger came to Illinois from the University of Florida and carried a list of impressive credentials, including guiding Florida to the Final Four in 1994.

In his first year at Illinois, Kruger guided Illinois to a 22-10 record and the second round of the NCAA Tournament. His 22 wins in 1997 are the most by a coach in his first season at Illinois. Over the course of the season, Illinois defeated five ranked opponents, including No. 7 Minnesota, 96-90, at the Assembly Hall. Illinois also traveled to Bloomington and handed Indiana a 78-74 loss, the first win for Illinois at Assembly Hall in Bloomington since 1990.

During the course of the year, Garriss etched his name in the Illinois record book with one of the best season performances by any Illini player in history. He finished his career second on the all-time scoring list with 1,948 points and set the single-season record for free throws made and attempted. Garriss averaged 19.4 points and missed being the Big Ten's leading scorer by three one-hundredths of a point.

In 1998, Kruger did the unthinkable as he took a team picked to finish seventh in the Big Ten and guided the Illini to a share of its first Big Ten title since 1984. On the way to the league crown, Illinois went 5-0 against Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan for the first time in school history the Illini had gone undefeated against those teams during the course of a season.

Illinois advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament after earning a No. 5 seed in the West Regional. The Illini defense was the Big Ten's best as Illinois finished the year first in scoring defense, field-goal defense and three-point defense in league games.

In October 1998, Illinois moved into a state-of-the-art basketball practice facility, the Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex. The facility, which houses the coaches offices and practice gym, also features a weight room, training room, video review room, players' lounge and locker rooms.

The Illini closed out the 1999 season with an amazing run at the Big Ten Tournament title. After entering the tournament as the 11th-seeded team, Illinois reeled off three straight victories over Top 25-ranked teams before losing in the championship game to second-ranked Michigan State. Illini freshman Cory Bradford was the Big Ten's Freshman of the Year and was also selected to the All-Tournament team. Bradford set a school record by making 85 three pointers on the season.

2000-03 (100-31)

In 2000, for the third time in four seasons under Lon Kruger, Illinois advanced to the NCAA Tournament, this time as a #4 seed. After defeating Penn in the opening round, the Illini season ended with a defeat to eventual national runner-up Florida. The Fighting Illini spent much of the season ranked in the Top 25, climbing as high as No. 15 in late December. An early three-game losing streak in Big Ten play put the Illini in a hole to start league play at 1-3. But, Illinois went on to win 10 of the last 12 league games before finishing second in the Big Ten Tournament. Cory Bradford earned second-team All-Big Ten honors after leading Illinois in scoring and the Big Ten in three-point field goals. He broke his own three-point field goal record by making 96 on the season. Forward Brian Cook was named Co-Freshman of the Year in the league and earned All-Tournament honors with strong play in the Big Ten Tournament.

In May 2000, Kruger left Illinois to become head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Another era of Illinois basketball was begun when the University named Bill Self its 15th head men's basketball coach on June 9, 2000. Self came to Illinois from Tulsa where he had led the Golden Hurricane to consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, including an impressive 32-5 record and tournament run to the regional finals in 2000.

Self's first season at Illinois was certainly memorable. The Illini were ranked in the Top 10 the entire season and tied for the Big Ten Championship with Michigan State before earning a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. The Illini run was ended in the regional final to eventual national runner-up Arizona, the third meeting between the two schools on the season.

Sophomore Frank Williams became the first Illini player to earn Big Ten Player of the Year honors since 1967 and was named to several postseason All-America squads. Junior Cory Bradford set an NCAA record by making a three-point field goal in 88 consecutive games.

In 2002, Self became just the second coach, and first since 1913, to win Big Ten titles in each of his first two seasons. Frank Williams again earned first-team All-Big Ten honors as the Illini earned a four-way share of the Big Ten title before advancing to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament. The five seniors who finished their careers took the Illini from an 11th-place finish in the league in 1999 to consecutive Big Ten titles in 2001 and 2002.

The 2003 squad started three freshmen, a sophomore and one senior, and still finished with a 25-7 record and second-place finish in the Big Ten. Brian Cook earned Big Ten Player of the Year honors and the Illini won the Big Ten Tournament championship for the first time.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois exercises final authority over the policies and governance of all three campuses of the University (Chicago, Springfield, Urbana-Champaign), within limits fixed by the Illinois Constitution and state law.

There are nine statewide trustees appointed by the governor. Each serves for six years. Their terms are staggered, with three expiring every two years. All trustees serve without pay. The governor is also an ex officio member of the board, with a vote.

In addition, three students, one each from the campuses of Chicago, Springfield, and Urbana-Champaign, serve single-year terms on the board.

Trustees elect their own chair annually in January. The chair for 2003 is Lawrence C. Eppley.

PRESIDENT JAMES J. STUKEL

James J. Stukel is in his ninth year as president of the three-campus University of Illinois, a great public institution enrolling some 70,000 students at Chicago, Springfield and the original campus, Urbana-Champaign.

When the Board of Trustees selected him as the University's 15th chief executive officer in 1995, Jim Stukel set out to reconnect the people and communities of Illinois to their largest, strongest and best-known center of higher education. This vision - to strengthen the U of I's ties to the state - soon led to an ongoing series of community visits. More than 200,000 road miles later, Stukel has taken the University's story and offers of help to Illinois towns, cities and suburbs; to its community colleges; to its alumni clubs and gatherings; to mayors, council members and county boards; to legislators in their home districts; to media in their editorial board rooms and studios. This community-visit program, quite apart from other alumni, donor and legislative appearances and efforts, has taken the president on the road more than 40 times for a day or two each visit - and has reached thousands of Illinoisans face-to-face.

Stukel's citizen outreach is one of four major pillars of his presidency. The others are to protect and enrich undergraduate education; to enhance quality at all levels and in all aspects; and, finally, to streamline business operations to save money and reduce bureaucracy. An example of the last is a large-scale conversion from 150 separate computer systems on the three campuses to a single, integrated system that ties together human resources, business and finance and student systems. The first elements of the UI Integrate project were up and running as of summer 2003 with the rest expected to be fully operational in 2005. Stukel believes up-to-date business systems and processes will save money and produce efficiency.

President Stukel's commitment to the University is personal and of long-standing. A native of Joliet and Purdue graduate, Jim Stukel earned his master's degree in engineering in 1963 and Ph.D. in 1968, both from the College of Engineering at the Urbana-Champaign campus. After nearly 20 years on the engineering faculty at Urbana, including being director of the Engineering Experiment Station, he moved to the Chicago campus as executive vice chancellor and, from 1991-95, was UIC chancellor.

He has served important roles with national higher education organizations; his term as chair of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges draws to a close in fall 2003.

Dr. Stukel and his wife, Joan, have three grown sons and a daughter and six grandchildren.

CHANCELLOR NANCY CANTOR

Nancy Cantor, a sports fan and Chancellor of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, grew up in New York, graduated from Sarah Lawrence College, and received her Ph.D. in social psychology from Stanford University in 1978. Her scholarly work, in three books and numerous book chapters and articles, has focused on personality, cognition, life tasks, and relationships. She is married to Steven Brechin, an environmental sociologist, and is the mother of their two teen-agers, a son and a daughter.

Chancellor Cantor chaired the psychology department at Princeton University and came to this campus three years ago from the University of Michigan, where she was the Provost, in charge of academic affairs. She has become nationally known for her advocacy of racial and ethnic diversity as an essential element of excellence in education.

Under Dr. Cantor's leadership, this campus has provided seed money for 10 multidisciplinary Cross-Campus Initiatives to study critical societal questions. These range from the issues of aging to food security, from globalization to research in repairing the human nervous system. Two Initiatives will focus on the revolution now underway in bio-technology.

Within sight of the Morrow Plots, the oldest continuous experimental agricultural plots in the nation, a new, state-financed Institute for Genomic Biology is going up to sustain and advance Illinois as a research leader in genome based biology.

A few blocks away, the privately-financed Doris Kelley Christopher Hall, also under construction, will house a new Cross-Campus Initiative to Promote Family Resiliency, in which researchers, students, families, and social agencies will collaborate to study how it is that some families are able to raise successful children even when confronted with extreme difficulties.

The Initiatives include Exploring the Human Experience, which this year, beginning in the fall, is commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Supreme Court's landmark Brown v Board of Education decision. They are all part of an effort on this campus to put our best faculty and our students in fresh combinations to the benefit of all.

DIVISION OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics (DIA) was chartered in 1892 as a not-for-profit corporation of the State of Illinois. It was charged with overseeing and conducting the University's intercollegiate athletic programs and associated support services, and operated as a separate entity.

After the state legislature voted in June 1989 to bring UI athletics within the University proper, the DIA assumed the functions and responsibilities of the Athletic Association. The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics began operations officially July 1, 1989, and now, more than a century after University of Illinois athletics began, the mission is still to achieve excellence both in the classroom and in sport competition.

The director of athletics is the division's chief executive officer, and reports directly to the chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus. The chancellor has final authority regarding the athletic program in all areas except for budget and major appointments. Those decisions rest with the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The Athletic Board serves the DIA in an advisory capacity. It is composed of 18 members, (nine faculty, five alumni, three students and one trustee); and the three non-voting (ex-officio) members from the University administration.

The faculty and student members are nominated by the Urbana-Champaign Senate and selected by the chancellor.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics does not receive state tax dollars and over the years has been able to fully fund the NCAA maximum allowable number of athletic scholarships for student-athletes in each of its sports programs, as well as to hire excellent coaches and maintain and upgrade its facilities, staying on par with the best major collegiate programs across the nation.

This has been accomplished through revenues derived from four major sources: gate receipts from football and men's basketball; television and radio rights fees for those two sports; corporate sponsorships and donations to the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund. The FISF contributions provide the maximum allowable number of scholarships in the 19 men's and women's sports at an average annual cost of approximately $10,000 for in-state student-athletes and about $15,000 for those from outside Illinois.

FACILITIES

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics utilizes and maintains 12 facilities for competition and the administration of 19 sports. The facilities include Memorial Stadium, Assembly Hall, Huff Hall, Illinois Field, Eichelberger Field, the Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Armory, Atkins Tennis Center, the Intramural and Physical Education Building, Kenney Gym, the University of Illinois Orange and Blue Golf Courses, the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility and the Irwin Academic Center.

The latest facility added to the list is a $12.5 million indoor football practice facility, located just east of the current Ubben Football Complex and locker room. The football practice field will open directly onto the East Outdoor Practice Field and opened in the winter of 2000.

In 1996, more than 100 members of the DIA staff moved into the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, located on the east-west axis between the Atkins Tennis Center and the Assembly Hall. The facility houses DIA coaches, administration and staff, including the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund, the Varsity "I" Association, accounting and personnel, athletic public relations and marketing and compliance.

A "Park of Tradition" commemorating the history of Fighting Illini athletics is planned adjacent to the Bielfeldt Building, along with the opening of the Illinois Hall of Fame. The Ubben Basketball Practice Facility opened in the fall of 1998 and features practice courts for men's and women's basketball, offices and meeting rooms, training and equipment facilities, strength and conditioning and locker rooms.

In 1992, the DIA completed an $18 million renovation project on Memorial Stadium, replacing the main and balcony stands on the east and west sides of the Stadium.

It has been a busy two decades for facility construction at Illinois as the Atkins Tennis Center opened in 1991, featuring six indoor and eight outdoor lighted courts, along with a pro shop and balcony viewing areas. The Atkins Tennis Center has hosted the Big Ten Championships, the NCAA Regionals and numerous professional tournaments and is also a resource for the entire Champaign-Urbana tennis community. Fighting Illini men's and women's tennis have risen to the top of the Big Ten Conference with the men's squad having won the last five Big Ten Championships.

Illinois Field and the Outdoor Track Stadium have also seen construction upgrades, adding lights to both facilities and expanding the track stadium to accommodate Illinois women's soccer matches. The Outdoor Track and Soccer Stadium also includes future plans for seating for 8,000 and a permanent press box.

Eichelberger Field, the new home of Illinois softball, opened in time for the 2001 spring season. The field plays host to Illinois' newest sport.

Four years ago, the Irwin Academic Center opened on campus, providing UI student-athletes with state-of-the-art computer study areas, quiet rooms, conference rooms, career planning and placement and other academic programs all under one roof. The Irwin Academic Center is utilized by nearly 600 student-athletes on an annual basis.

The Illini men's and women's basketball squads compete in the Assembly Hall, billed for many years as college basketball's finest arena. During the past two years, the Assembly Hall has undergone more than $11 million in facility upgrades, including new locker rooms, training rooms, meeting and dining areas, storage and other improvements designed to showcase Illinois basketball.

Huff Hall, the home for Illinois men's basketball and the famed IHSA "March Madness" state basketball tournament from 1925-63, has undergone nearly $1 million in construction since 1990 and is the home for Illini volleyball, wrestling and gymnastics.

Future construction plans include renovations and expansion of the Irwin Football Complex and a multi-purpose indoor sport facility adjacent to the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.

The Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building opened in June of 1996.

In 12 years as Director of Athletics at the University of Illinois, Ron Guenther has returned his alma mater to the national elite in competing for championships in 19 intercollegiate sports with outstanding coaches, staff and facilities, including a Top-25 finish in the Sears Cup competition and an NCAA Title for the Illinois men's tennis program last season. He was named the 2001

NACDA/Continental Airlines Central Region Athletic Director of the Year.

The MVP of the 1966 Illinois football squad, Guenther continues to move the Illini athletic program on a breakneck pace toward a position of competing at a championship level in all programs.

Guenther has overseen a series of dramatic changes that have local, regional and national media, alumni and fans marveling at his abilities to add sport programs in women's soccer and softball, recruit top-level coaches, plan for and build championship facilities with more than $50 million in capital donations and create a model program producing outstanding student-athletes. Guenther has established Illinois as a rising power among NCAA institutions by:

- Bringing the Chicago Bears to central Illinois for a one-season stint at Memorial Stadium. With a partnership formed in the fall of 2001, the Bears played one full season, 10 games, in Champaign while Soldier Field underwent construction. With that partnership came funds that refurbished the Irwin football complex, including new locker and meeting rooms as well as a training room and upgrade to the coaches offices.

- Adding popular women's sports like soccer and softball as the first UI athletic programs added in two decades.

- Hiring championship-level coaches such as Head Football Coach Ron Turner who led the Illini to a Big Ten Championship in 2001, an astounding 10-2 record and a bid to the Bowl Championship Series.

- Hiring Illinois Head Basketball Coach Bruce Weber who led his previous Southern Illinois squad to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances. He looks to lead a squad that returns four starters from the 2003 Big Ten Tournament Champion team.

- In his 12 years as director, Guenther has also landed nationally recognized men's tennis coach Craig Tiley, who led the Illini to the school's first NCAA team title since 1989. Illinois swept the field at the national championships, taking the team, singles (Amer Delic) and doubles (Rajeev Ram/Brian Wilson) title. Tiley's squads have won seven straight regular-season Big Ten titles and trips to the NCAA Tournament. In 2000, the team of Graydon Oliver and Cary Franklin won the NCAA doubles title.

- Guenther also extended the contract of nationally prominent wrestling coach Mark Johnson who has engineered Top-10 finishes for the program seven times in his 11-year career, including a fifth-place finish at the NCAA Championships and a second-place finish at the Big Ten Championships in 2001. The Illini have crowned seven national champions since 1995 and five in the last six years.

- Guenther has also hired former Illini and member of the 1998 Big Ten Championship golf squad, Mike Small, who, in his first two seasons, led the team to the NCAA Championships. The Illini have taken second in the Big Ten in both 2002 and 2003 and All-American James Lepp was named the Big Ten Golfer of the Year last season.

- The Illinois track and field programs have also excelled at both the NCAA and international level. Senior hurdler Perdita Felicien won three national titles in two years. In 2002, Illinois placed 10th at the NCAA Championships and Felicien was named the 2001 and 2003 National Female Track Athlete of the Year, following her All-American performances in the 100-meter hurdles.

- The Illinois men's gymnastics program under head coach Yoshi Hayasaki is year in and year out ranked among the Top-10 in the nation. This year was no exception with the team placing fifth at the 2003 NCAA Championships and crowning four All-Americans.

- Signing an exclusive $7.5 million agreement with Nike as one of only 13 Nike institutions in the United States.

- Christening new facilities like the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, Irwin Indoor Football Facility and the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.

- Overseeing the construction and opening of the $2.1 million Irwin Academic Center, providing 600 student-athletes with a state-of-the-art, convenient academic center to reach their full potential as students.

Under Guenther's leadership, Illinois has steadily improved its performance on the field and in the classroom. Off the field, Illinois student-athletes have continued to benefit from outstanding academic service programs, matching the overall campus grade point average and producing nearly 100 Academic All-Big Ten award winners annually in all sports. Guenther also has spearheaded a revolution for funding for championship-level programs and facilities as the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics has opened necessary additional revenue streams totaling more than $3 million through working partnerships with corporate sponsors and management of the Illini Sports Radio Network.

Guenther's aggressive plan to make the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics a valuable and enthusiastic partner in the overall education, research and service mission of the University has begun to pay dividends in the 21st century.

Now in his fourth decade with the University of Illinois, Guenther was the Most Valuable Player on the 1966 Illinois football squad under Head Coach Pete Elliott. Guenther was a second-team All-Big Ten selection at offensive guard, also earning first-team Academic All-Big Ten honors and recognition as the University's outstanding senior in physical education. Guenther earned his bachelor of science degree in physical education from Illinois in 1967 and an M.S. in administration in 1968 before embarking on a successful career in coaching, athletic administration and business.

Guenther was named the 17th Director of Athletics in 1992 after serving for two years with the University of Illinois Foundation as Director of Major Gifts and for three years as a partner with The Barofsky Association, a Chicago-area investments and marketing firm. From June of 1988 to March of 1989, Guenther served as Interim Director of Athletics for External Operations, administering the development program, public relations, promotions, tickets, merchandise and summer camps.

Guenther spent the previous three years within the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as associate athletic director for development, coordinating the "Campaign for Excellence in Athletics." That campaign began the first major facelift of athletic facilities in nearly 60 years on campus and provided the impetus for the eventual construction of Illinois Field for baseball, the UI Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Atkins Tennis Center and the Irwin Football Complex, housing coaches offices, locker rooms, sports medicine, strength and conditioning facilities and meeting rooms for Illinois football.

One of the nation's top athletic fund raisers, Guenther has been instrumental in soliciting gift commitments totaling more than $50 million toward capital improvements at Illinois during the last 15 years.

Firmly committed to delivering the Illinois message across the state and Midwest, Guenther served from 1983 to 1987 as assistant athletic director for Chicago operations, renewing a commitment that continues today to reach out to the thousands of Chicago-area alumni, donors and fans. During his tenure in Chicago, Guenther created the annual statewide caravan for promotion and public relations and saw a tripling in the number of donors to Illinois athletics.

Guenther spent eight years at North Central College in Naperville, Ill., including a stint from 1975-79 as director of admissions and also as an associate head football coach. From 1979-83, he served as the vice president of development and public affairs at North Central, helping to design and implement a $15 million Capital Campaign. As associate head football coach, Guenther helped the Cardinals amass a 23-12-2 record, including the school's first winning season in 15 years.

Before moving to North Central College, Guenther was offensive line coach at Boston College from 1971-74, helping to develop nine National Football League players. From 1968-71, Guenther was a teacher and coached football, wrestling and track and field for the Evanston Township and Glenhard High School systems in suburban Chicago.

Born Oct. 3, 1945, Guenther is a native of Elmhurst and a graduate of York High School. He lettered at Illinois in 1965 and 1966, helping Illinois to a 24-14-1 record in his four seasons. Guenther earned MVP honors on a squad that produced five All-Americans in 1966.

Sports Information Director

The Big Ten – the nation's most outstanding conference – fields the nation's best in basketball year-in and year-out. Each year the Big Ten is tops in attendance and is among the leaders in number of teams receiving bids to the NCAA Tournament and number of teams ranked in the Top 25 during the season.

TOPS IN ATTENDANCE

For the 27th consecutive year, the Big Ten Conference led all NCAA conferences in home attendance for men's basketball. The league's attendance mark in 2000-01 (2,342,022) established an NCAA record, breaking the previous record from 1999-2000 (2,255,913), also set by the Big Ten. The Big Ten placed seven teams in the Top 25 nationally for attendance (Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan State, Minnesota, Ohio State, Wisconsin).

POSTSEASON PLAY

At least five teams have advanced to the NCAA Tournament in each of the last 19 seasons ... Two advanced to the Sweet Sixteen in 2003 ... A Conference school has advanced to the Final Four for a fourth of the past five seasons. The Big Ten is the only conference in the nation to advance at least one program to the Regional Finals in each of the last five seasons. Another terrific postseason for the Big Ten! In addition to the five teams that earned a spot in the Big Dance, Minnesota and Iowa finished their seasons with berths in the NIT.

Since the NCAA Tournament expanded to 64 teams in 1985, the Big Ten has recorded a 163-106 mark, with champions coming in 1987 (Indiana), 1989 (Michigan) and 2000 (Michigan State). Since 1985, the Big Ten has been represented in the Final Four 13 times, including four years with multi-

MEDIA INFORMATION

The University of Illinois media guide is your source for information on the Illini basketball program. The Athletic Media Relations staff is here to help you in your coverage of Illinois basketball and don't hesitate to call any member of our staff if you need assistance during the course of the year.

ASSEMBLY HALL

All media will enter the arena through the Northeast Entrance and will park in the Northeast lot, located on the corner of Kirby and Fourth Streets. After you enter the Assembly Hall concourse, turn left to access the media room. We will have phone lines available in the media room where all press can work postgame. Occasionally, the Assembly Hall stage crew will be setting up for another event and the press row area will be taken down immediately following some games.

Before every home game a meal will be provided in the media room 1 1/2 hours prior to tip-off. You also may secure game programs, media guides and pre-game notes in the media room beginning two hours prior to tip-off.

COURTSIDE PHOTOGRAPHY

All photographers must work from within the designated areas behind the baselines of the playing court. The University of Illinois follows NCAA and Big Ten guidelines regarding event photography. Photo locations are first-come, first-served, but in the event of heavy demand for photo credentials for a particular game, shooting locations may be assigned.

Strobes—Photographers wishing to use strobe equipment at Illinois home games must notify the Illinois Sports Information staff at least one week in advance of the game for which they are requesting. There is a charge for installation and/or use of such equipment. A maximum of two strobe units may be used for any individual game.

All photographs are to be used in coverage of Illinois basketball and cannot be sold for any commercial enterprise benefiting the photographer. Should photos be sold commercially, credential privileges could be terminated.

CREDENTIALS

Any member of the media wishing to cover the Fighting Illini this season must request, in writing or by email, credentials from Kent Brown in the Sports Information Office. All requests must be in writing on your company letterhead and be either mailed, emailed or faxed to Kent Brown. NO credential requests will be accepted over the phone.

Due to limitations in seating numbers, all requests will be prioritized according to published circulation numbers. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed, either media or photo. Any non-working people in possession of a media credential will be asked to turn over the credential and leave the press area. No children are permitted in the press seating areas. Media agencies that violate this policy may not be issued credentials for future games.

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of the University of Illinois' rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and an agreement to abide by any restrictions the UI may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the UI may result in revocation of press credentials. The UI reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the internet.

Season requests should be received by Nov. 1.

Single-game requests should be made at least 10 days prior to the date of the game.

ROAD GAME CREDENTIALS

Illinois media wishing to cover the Illini on the road should direct their credential request to the sports information director of the host institution. Please see below for credential requests for neutral site games.

PARKING

A limited number of media parking passes are available for the 2003-04 men's basketball games at the Assembly Hall. The issuance of passes will be done on a priority basis with media who cover the University of Illinois basketball team on a regular basis holding the highest priority. Requests will then be prioritized according to circulation for newspapers and coverage area for radio and television. A replacement pass WILL NOT BE ISSUED IF THE ORIGINAL IS LOST. To avoid game traffic, media are encouraged to arrive at least 45 minutes prior to tip-off.

TELEPHONES

Charge-a-call lines will be provided in the working press room. Any individual wishing to order phone lines for the season or for a single game should direct the request to Ameritech (800) 321-8152 during regular business hours. Street address for the Assembly Hall is 1600 South First Street, Champaign, IL 61820. Post-game, all media are asked to utilize the phone lines in the working press room because the press row seating area on the floor will be taken down immediately following several games in preparation for the next event.

POSTGAME INFORMATION

Media are strongly encouraged to use the official Illinois athletics web site -- www.fightingillini.com -- to access the box score following home games.

Updated Illinois statistics will be available by 10 a.m. Central time the morning after each game, except when traveling by commercial means and in that case the stats will be updated later that day.

The University of Illinois will not be faxing its basketball releases to media personnel. All persons wishing to receive releases, stats, or box scores should retrieve the information off the official UI athletics web site at www.fightingillini.com. To receive releases via email, contact SID Kent Brown.

WEB SITES

Media credentials are issued only for individuals who are affiliated with web sites for national or regional television and news media organizations, e.g. USA Today Online, ESPN SportsZone, CNN/SI, CBS Sportsline, etc., for institutions that are conference members and non-conference opponents, and for the Big Ten Conference. The University of Illinois reserves the right to refuse media credentials to any individual whose web site is not affiliated with an official news gathering organization.

WWW.FIGHTINGILLINI.COM

Illinois releases, statistics and live radio coverage of the Fighting Illini games are available on the official University of Illinois athletics web site, www.fightingillini.com. In addition to men's basketball, live audio is available on the web for football, women's basketball, volleyball, softball, baseball and the coaches' radio show broadcasts.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Illinois basketball practices will generally be open to the media, although Coach Bruce Weber reserves the right to close practices at his discretion. Media interested in attending practice should contact SID Kent Brown to confirm the time and place.

The Illinois basketball team will generally practice at 2:45 p.m. on weekdays and practice times on weekends will be listed as TBA. Most practices will be held at the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, except for isolated times when the team will practice at the Assembly Hall. Please note that the locker room area, weight room and training room are off limits to members of the media. In order to avoid congestion on the floor area, media who attend practice are asked to watch from the balcony area on the second floor that overlooks the court at the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility.

INTERVIEW POLICIES

All interview requests for Illinois players, Bruce Weber and members of the Illini coaching staff should be cleared through Kent Brown or Derrick Burson in the Illinois Sports Information Office. Please give at least 24 hours advance notice for interview requests. On days of scheduled press conferences, players will be available for interviews before practice. Otherwise, Coach Weber, assistant coaches and players will be available for interviews following practice.

When the Illini are on the road, Illinois head coach Bruce Weber will be available for interviews for a few minutes after the scheduled practice. The final 20 minutes of practices are open to the media.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS

The University of Illinois will utilize the media room, located on the Mezzanine Level on the Northeast side of the Assembly Hall, for post-game interviews. Coaches and players from both teams will be brought to this area for interviews. If you need to interview an Illinois player who has not been requested for the interview room, please make specific arrangements with a member of the Illinois Sports Information staff. The normal schedule will be the opposing coach and selected players first, followed by Illinois players and then Bruce Weber. Player requests for the visiting team should be made through that school's Basketball SID.

THE BRUCE WEBER TV SHOW

This weekly 30-minute television program, hosted by Chris Widlic of WCIA-TV in Champaign, features game highlights and interviews with coaches, players and others involved with the Illinois basketball program. Viewers should consult their local listings for the dates and times of the telecasts in their area.

BRUCE WEBER RADIO SHOW

The Bruce Weber Show is a weekly call-in radio show aired statewide on the Illinois Sports Network. The show is hosted by Illini play-by-play announcer Brian Barnhart and airs Monday's from 6:05-7 p.m. beginning Nov. 24. In addition to the studio shows, the radio show will occasionally move to different sorority and fraternity houses on the UI campus. The 45-station Illini Sports Network once again will bring Fighting Illini basketball to fans across the state with Brian Barnhart and former Illini great Stephen Bardo calling the action from courtside.

Barnhart is in his second season as the "Voice of the Illini" after a long stint in professional baseball, including two years as the play-by-play voice of the Anaheim Angels. Barnhart serves as the voice of the Illini Sports Network, providing play-by-play coverage of football and men's basketball, and as the host of the statewide "Ron Turner Show" and "Bruce Weber Show" call-in programs every Monday night at 6:05 p.m.

A native of nearby Tolono, Barnhart graduated from Unity High School and Liberty University before beginning a 15-year career in professional baseball in 1986. He served as the play-by-play voice of the Lynchburg Mets and Salem Buccaneers before moving up to the Oklahoma City 89ers, the Class AAA affiliate of the Texas Rangers, from 1988-94. Barnhart did high school football and other sport play-by-play for 11 years and was also the voice for Oklahoma Baptist basketball from 1992-94 and Oklahoma City Blazers minor league hockey in 1993. From 1996-98, he did news, sports and play-by-play at WWLS in Oklahoma City.

In 1998, Barnhart was named the play-by-play announcer for the Angels and spent two full seasons with the American League club before returning to the Champaign-Urbana area in 2000. He currently is a news and sports announcer at WDWS-AM 1400 in Champaign.

Former Illini star guard Stephen Bardo will be in his fourth season as an expert analyst for the Illini Sports Network. A 1990 graduate of the UI, Bardo was a mainstay on the Flying Illini team that reached the Final Four in 1989. A hard-nosed defensive specialist, Bardo went on to a nine-year professional career that included stops in the NBA, CBA, USBL, Italy, Spain, France, Venezuela and most recently Japan. He has broadcasting experience working with ESPN-Plus Regional, CLTV in Chicago and on ESPN International NBA broadcasts. He is currently a sports reporter at WBBM-TV in Chicago.

The Illini Sports Network is managed by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, including management, distribution, sales operations, affiliate relations and programming. Illini Sports Network programming includes Illinois football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball, along with the popular "Illini Today" series, and the coaches' live weekly call-in shows. "Bruce Weber Live" can be heard on Monday nights from 6-7 p.m. beginning Dec. 8.

ISN2 debuted in the fall of 1997, featuring alternative sports programming including "I on the Illini," a weekly 15-minute coaches show featuring all 19 sport programs. ISN2 also features expanded women's basketball and volleyball game coverage.
